Can Make H-Bomb to Ruin City

AEC Chairman Declares Recent Pacific Test Gives U.S. Enormous Military Potential

Washington, March 31 (AP)—Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission said today a hydrogen bomb big enough to wipe out any city in the world now can be made.

Strauss made the statement at President Eisenhower's weekly news conference. He attended the conference to give the public a partial report on the recent H-bomb tests in the Far Pacific.

The AEC chairman said the March 1 and March 26 tests "were successful" and declared that "enormous potential has been added to our military posture."

He denied reports that the first blast, which exposed a number of Americans, Japanese and Marshall islanders far from the explosion scene to "hot" ashes, went out of control.

Not Out of Control

"It was a stupendous blast," Strauss said. "But at no time was the testing out of control."

He said the power of the explosion was about twice what scientists had expected—a margin of error not unusual, he added, in testing "a totally new weapon."

An unexpected shift in the wind carried atomic particles to the area where a Japanese fishing trawler was cruising, Strauss added.

Strauss said the tests bring the commission "very much nearer" to satisfying the requirements of the armed forces and hasten the day when the AEC can devote more attention to developing peacetime uses of atomic energy.

President Hears Report

President Eisenhower listened with keen attention as Strauss—just back from the Pacific tests—read a four-page statement and then answered a few questions.

In reply to one question, Strauss said, without qualification, that an H-bomb large enough to "take out" a city can be made.

"How big a city?" he was asked.

"Any city," Strauss replied.

"New York?" a reporter pressed.

Strauss nodded and said, "The metropolitan area."

Strauss also used the word "destroy" in describing what an H-bomb could do to the metropolitan area of New York.

Asked specifically after the news conference what he meant by the phrase "take out a city," Strauss said he meant "put a city out of commission, not level it."

The New York metropolitan area, as defined by the Regional Plan Assn., includes 6,915 square miles of land, inhabited by 13,951,006 people.

Besides New York city proper,

Signature Due Today On Measure

999 Million Reduction Is Effective Thursday; Consumers Will Get Benefit of Savings

Washington, March 31 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he will sign the 999 million dollar excise tax cut bill and believes it will help stimulate business.

The President told his news conference he will put his signature to the measure later in the day. He added he has every reason to believe enactment of the tax reduction will be a stimulating factor in the American economy.

Eisenhower decided to sign the bill into law—the cuts will be effective tomorrow—even though it throws his budget for the next year a billion dollars deeper in the red.

The measure shot through Congress yesterday in compromise form, with a House vote of 395-1 and a Senate tally of 72-8. It cuts excise, or sales, taxes on dozens of products ranging from refrigerators to phone bills. It means savings for just about every person who spends money.

Eisenhower told his news conference the cuts voted by Congress will reduce government revenue very considerably more than he recommended. He added that he recognized, however, that the whole field is one that is open to discussion. And he said the cut probably will have a great effect toward stimulation of business.

Points to Record Cuts

For that reason the President said he accepts the reduction wholeheartedly. He said he hopes that any possible damaging effects of the bill will be kept to a minimum.

The President then said he wanted to point out that, with the excise tax reduction, the administration will have put into effect the greatest single reduction in taxes from a dollar standpoint that has ever been accomplished.

He put the total at $7,100,000,000 so far this year, starting with a 10 per cent cut in income taxes which went into effect Jan. 1.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, dispelled whatever lingering doubts there were about the President's attitude by commenting late yesterday: "He'll probably sign it tomorrow morning."

There was evidence that most of the cuts would be passed along to consumers, providing a stimulus to retail trade in many lines.

Alleged Gambler Claims Mones Was Partner Once

Tells DA Police Chief Paid Along With Other Officers Several Times

James J. Tyrrell, alleged Poughkeepsie gambler, who testified Monday that he had paid "protection money" to a detective now on trial, also said one Al Mones had once been in business with him for about 10 days or two weeks.

James E. Carroll, an assistant in the Dutchess county district attorney's office, said yesterday that Alfred Mones, of this city, had been mentioned during the trial as a "banker" in a gambling establishment at 17 Catherine street, Poughkeepsie.

Tyrell also testified that he had paid to Detective Capt. George T. Brophy, who is on trial on perjury counts, $100 a week over a period of three or four years. He also said he had paid a former police chief and a convicted detective.

$100 a Day

Tyrell said his bookmaking business "probably averaged $400 a day," and took in about the same daily in the "numbers business." In the latter he said $600 to $700 was "the highest."

The witness said he had made contact with Al Mones to "bank" the gambling. Defense attorney, Nathaniel Rubin, asked "Where did you meet Al Mones to make the arrangements?"

Met Him in Poughkeepsie

Tyrell replied: "To the best of my recollection, I think I met him in Poughkeepsie. I think I met him down in Schlessinger's."

"Did he send for you or did you send for him?" the attorney asked. Tyrell indicated he did not recall. He said he and Mones had talked privately, but he did not recall any discussion about protection money, and then he said Mones stayed in business with him "for about 10 days or two weeks."

Tyrell testified that in April, 1947, one Anthony Nuccitelli paid $3,000 to take Mones' place in the gambling business in Poughkeepsie.

"Did you testify before the grand jury in the case against Nuccitelli?" Rubin asked.

"I did," the witness said.

"Did you testify that Nuccitelli bought the numbers business in 1948?"

"Yes."

"Then Nuccitelli paid twice for the business?" the attorney asked. Tyrell said Nuccitelli had paid him only once.

Says He Paid Chief

"Who else did you pay protection to besides Captain Brophy?" Rubin asked.

"Detective Owens and Chief Leadbitter," he replied, and then asked if other horse rooms or dice games were operating in Poughkeepsie, he said:

"If you counted every store, just about everybody was in the business except the five and ten." He named four or five places he knew as gambling houses.

Tyrrell testified that he had paid former Poughkeepsie Police

Business Men Name Heads At Meeting

Julius Lipton, Albany avenue grocer, was elected president of the Albany Avenue Business Men's Association at a meeting held Tuesday evening at the meeting rooms of Ulster Hose Company, No. 5, Town of Ulster. Robert Morehouse was elected vice-president; Frank Lyle, secretary, and Vincent McDermott, treasurer.

Members of the board of directors named were Albert Di Donna, Stanley Chase, Percy Bush, Alexander Embree, Jr., David Van Wagenen and Abram Winchell. Several committees were appointed to carry on the business of the association.

More Than 40 Join

The meeting, which was called for the purpose of completing organization of the newly-formed association, was very well attended with 35 of the 43 paid up members being present. A membership committee will contact approximately 40 additional businesses in the area in an endeavor to have a fully representative membership. The association will function in the Albany avenue area of the city and the town of Ulster.

A vote of thanks was extended Ulster Hose No. 5, Town of Ulster, for use of the fire house meeting rooms by the association and a rising vote of thanks was also extended to J. Lipton, Robert Cousins and Alexander Embree, Jr., for the work done by them in the preliminary planning for the organization.

To Meet April 13

The next meeting of the organization will be held at Ulster Hose, No. 5, firehouse on Tuesday, April 13, at 8:30 o'clock for the further transaction of business.

During the past few years the business establishments in the Albany avenue area have increased in number and in scope of activities. With the coming of IBM to the town of Ulster it is anticipated the business growth of the area will be sharply stimulated and the Albany Avenue Business Men's Association was formed to foster growth and to cooperate in the business activities of the area.

Cox, 84, Stresses Unity for America In Troubled World

Miami Beach, Fla., March 31 (AP)—James M. Cox, elder statesman and newspaper publisher, today urged unity for America in a troubled world.

The former governor of Ohio and a Democratic presidential candidate in 1920, with Franklin D. Roosevelt his running mate, reached his 84th birthday today. He granted an interview with some reluctance, his first in four years.

Cox entered Congress in 1908, and was reelected two years later. He was governor of Ohio for three terms. Since 1920 he has devoted himself almost exclusively to his seven newspapers in the north and south.

The Cost of Two Wars

What about world conditions since the momentous days of his political career?

"I've had time to reflect on the matters of my official career and the consequences of the tragedy of 1920."

That tragedy, he believes, was the defeat of the ideal of the League of Nations. He recalled that Winston Churchill, prime minister and great wartime leader of Britain, recently said the defeat of the League of Nations "has cost two wars." Cox believes that, too.

Cox spoke of the "tremendous crisis that involves our part of the world," and was asked:

Respects Eisenhower

"What do you think of our leadership in this time of crisis?"

"I have the greatest sympathy and respect for President Eisenhower," he stated. Those in control of our government came to their positions in the orderly process of government and we must be ever mindful that he is our President, resolved within his own mind, I am convinced, to do the best he can for our country. * * *

End Seen Near in Dock Strike, U.S. Move Likely

Molotov Proposes Europe Security

Hands Notes to France, Britain and U. S. for Geneva Parley

Moscow, March 31 (AP)—Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov called in the ambassadors of the United States, Britain and France today and handed them a Soviet note containing proposals for European security.

Contents of the note were not disclosed by the ambassadors, who cabled the text to their respective capitals.

Western embassy officials said the Soviet note was 10 pages long.

The Molotov proposals apparently were intended as an advance statement for the Geneva conference of the big four with Red China and other powers opening April 26.

Two Rejections

At the recent Berlin Big Four conference Molotov proposed a European security plan which rejected the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the proposed European Defense Community.

Molotov asserted that these western plans divided Europe and set one section of Europe against another, thus threatening peace.

Since then, the Soviet union has sent a series of notes to the Netherlands, Greece, Turkey and Pakistan protesting the granting of bases to the United States and other cooperation with American-sponsored defense plans.

43 Drown on Maneuvers

New Delhi, India, March 31 (AP)—Forty-three Indian Army men were drowned while crossing a river during maneuvers in Jammu State last week, the Indian Parliament was told today. Minister of Defense Organization Mahavir Tyagi told the Lower House 1,500 men crossed the Ravi river successfully during the military exercise on the night of March 26-27. The 43 victims apparently strayed off the marked route and were lost.

Back to Work Program Starts for Tugmen, Others in 27-Day Wharf Tieup

New York, March 31 (AP)—A back to work movement appeared underway today in this huge port's 27-day waterfront walkout and there was a possibility the strike was nearing an end.

In Washington, President Eisenhower said the federal government will act in the strike, if necessary.

Even before his news conference statement, tugboat men returned to the job. So did warehousemen in Brooklyn. The waterfront commission reported 4,429 longshoremen working compared with 4,142 yesterday.

Leaders of the striking International Longshoremen's Assn. expected to meet this afternoon to consider calling off the multi-million dollar work stoppage that started in a jurisdictional dispute with a rival AFL union.

Techincally, the ILA meeting was called to weigh a wage increase offer from the shipping industry.

Douglas Would Get Pacific Nations to Fight in Asia

Washington, March 31 (AP)—Sen. Douglas (D.-Ill.) asserted today the United States ought to "get ready for the worst" by enlisting forces of Pacific free nations to fight Communists in Indochina if they are needed.

Douglas, a marine officer in World War 2, called for support of President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles in seeking what Dulles called "united action" to prevent Communist conquest in southeast Asia.

"I do not know what measures this administration plans," Douglas said in a speech prepared for the Senate. "I do not know what measures will prove to be necessary.

"I do not know what attitude the Republican Party in Congress will take toward supporting the President. But reading the record against the gravity of the secretary's words, I have my misgivings."

Eisenhower was expected to be questioned at his news conference (10:30 a. m., EST) about Dulles' statement, in a nationally televised speech Monday night, that Communist control of southeast Asia would be "a grave threat" to the free world and that:

"The United States feels that that possibility should not be pas-

Police Checking On 2 Theft Cases

One Home Entered, Tools Stolen From Auto; Try Flower Shop

A theft from an automobile, a break at a private home and another attempted break were reported to the police yesterday.

Morton Moseman, of Colonial Gardens, reported at 5:20 p. m., that his car, which had been parked near the apartment building, had been entered during the previous night and a box of tools, valued at $40, a box of fishing tackle, valued at $20, a flashlight and an extinguisher, were taken.

Enter Lowe Home

Charles Brown reported earlier in the day that an attempt had been made to enter his Clifton avenue flower shop, and at 3:48 p. m., police were called to 204 O'Neil street where officers Charles McCullough and John Frasch reported the home of Ethel Lowe had been entered through a cellar window. The interior was ransacked and the walls marked with crayon or lipstick, old coins were taken from a box, and some cash from a jar, they said.

Blast at School Is Fatal to 7 Pupils

Cheektowaga, March 31 (AP)—At least seven children were reported killed today in an explosion and fire that ripped through the frame annex of an elementary school in this Buffalo suburban community.

At least 19 other pupils were burned or otherwise injured.

Firemen and rescue workers reported finding seven bodies in the ruins of the one-story building.

No Opposition to IBM Water Plan

No opposition was offered at a hearing this morning before Henry M. Schiller, associate engineer of the N. Y. State Water Power and Control Commission in the office of Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, city hall, on the city's application to extend water service to the site of the proposed IBM plant in the town of Ulster.

The hearing, which lasted about an hour, opened at 10 a. m. The state engineer was taken on a tour of the system at the conclusion of the hearing.

Those attending the session were Corporation Counsel James J. Abernethy, Cloonan, City Clerk Bernhardt S. Kramer, Edward L.

Tracks Expected to Yield State More Than 60 Million

Albany, March 31 (AP) — New York's 1954 horse-racing season opening tomorrow at Jamaica, is expected to yield the state more than 60 million dollars in direct taxes.

Gov. Dewey, who never has attended a pari-mutuel track but in the last six months has become fairly familiar with the ramifications of the sport, estimates in his budget that the state's share of the betting "bite" will be $58,600,000 an all-time high.

Of this sum, approximately 40 per cent will come from harness tracks. Dewey's estimate apparently was based on the presumption that the scandals that hit the sulky tracks will not hurt attendance or betting.

In addition to its take from betting, the state expects to obtain $1,800,000 from its 15 per cent tax on general admissions at flat and harness tracks. That will give it a grand total of $60,400,000.

Of course the fans won't get off the hook for that amount. They will kick in an additional sum at least equivalent to and perhaps greater than $60,400,000.

For what? The tracks' share of

Dairymen, Economists Feel Farm Support Sure to Cut Butter, Other Dairy Prices

Albany, March 31 (AP)—Dairymen and economists—in disagreement about the future of the state's dairy industry—appear sure that tomorrow's cut in government price supports will induce a slice in the retail price of butter.

Ever since Agriculture Secretary Benson announced that, effective April 1, the government would lower price supports under butter, cheese and dried milk from 90 to 75 per cent of parity, New York dairymen's organizations have set up howls of protest.

Among the experts, however, there is difference of opinion as to whether the lower supports will signal a boom, a bust or something in between for the milk producers.

They seem agreed, though, that in the near future housewives will be able to pick up a pound of butter for anywhere from 8 to 12 cents less than they're paying now. They'll save a few cents on cream, cheese and dried milk, too.

Parity is a price described by farm law as being fair to farmers in relation to the price of things they must buy in order to produce. Federal supports are designed to encourage full production by keeping prices attractive to the producer.

Benson told a farm and home week audience at Cornell University last week that the 90 per cent rate no longer could be justified in the name of full production. Could anyone justify it? Benson asked, pointing to more than a billion pounds of surplus butter, dried milk and cheese piled up in government warehouses.

In Washington yesterday, two key members of the Senate Agriculture Committee proposed measures apparently intended to ease the impact of Benson's order.

Senators Anderson (D-N. M.)

"I've had time to reflect on the matters of my official career and the consequences of the tragedy of 1920."

That tragedy, he believes, was the defeat of the ideal of the League of Nations. He recalled that Winston Churchill, prime minister and great wartime leader of Britain, recently said the defeat of the League of Nations "has cost two wars." Cox believes that, too.

Cox spoke of the "tremendous crisis that involves our part of the world," and was asked:

Respects Eisenhower

"What do you think of our leadership in this time of crisis?"

"I have the greatest sympathy and respect for President Eisenhower," he stated. Those in control of our government came to their positions in the orderly process of government and we must be ever mindful that he is our President, resolved within his own mind, I am convinced, to do the best he can for our country. * * *

Molotov Proposes Europe Security

Hands Notes to France, Britain and U. S. for Geneva Parley

Moscow, March 31 (AP)—Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov called in the ambassadors of the United States, Britain and France today and handed them a Soviet note containing proposals for European security.

Contents of the note were not disclosed by the ambassadors, who cabled the text to their respective capitals.

Western embassy officials said the Soviet note was 10 pages long.

The Molotov proposals apparently were intended as an advance statement for the Geneva conference of the big four with Red China and other powers opening April 26.

Two Rejections

At the recent Berlin Big Four conference Molotov proposed a European security plan which rejected the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the proposed European Defense Community.

Molotov asserted that these western plans divided Europe and set one section of Europe against another, thus threatening peace.

Since then, the Soviet union has sent a series of notes to the Netherlands, Greece, Turkey and Pakistan protesting the granting of bases to the United States and other cooperation with American-sponsored defense plans.

43 Drown on Maneuvers

New Delhi, India, March 31 (AP)—Forty-three Indian Army men were drowned while crossing a river during maneuvers in Jammu State last week, the Indian Parliament was told today. Minister of Defense Organization Mahavir Tyagi told the Lower House 1,500 men crossed the Ravi river successfully during the miiltary exercise on the night of March 26-27. The 43 victims apparently strayed off the marked route and were lost.

Back to Work Program Starts for Tugmen, Others in 27-Day Wharf Tieup

New York, March 31 (AP)—A back to work movement appeared underway today in this huge port's 27-day waterfront walkout and there was a possibility the strike was nearing an end.

In Washington, President Eisenhower said the federal government will act in the strike, if necessary.

Even before his news conference statement, tugboat men returned to the job. So did warehousemen in Brooklyn. The waterfront commission reported 4,429 longshoremen working compared with 4,142 yesterday.

Leaders of the striking International Longshoremen's Assn. expected to meet this afternoon to consider calling off the multi-million dollar work stoppage that started in a jurisdictional dispute with a rival AFL union.

Techincally, the ILA meeting was called to weigh a wage increase offer from the shipping industry.

Douglas Would Get Pacific Nations to Fight in Asia

Washington, March 31 (AP)—Sen. Douglas (D.-Ill.) asserted today the United States ought to "get ready for the worst" by enlisting forces of Pacific free nations to fight Communists in Indochina if they are needed.

Douglas, a marine officer in World War 2, called for support of President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles in seeking what Dulles called "united action" to prevent Communist conquest in southeast Asia.

"I do not know what measures this administration plans," Douglas said in a speech prepared for the Senate. "I do not know what measures will prove to be necessary.

"I do not know what attitude the Republican Party in Congress will take toward supporting the President. But reading the record against the gravity of the secretary's words, I have my misgivings."

Eisenhower was expected to be questioned at his news conference (10:30 a. m., EST) about Dulles' statement, in a nationally televised speech Monday night, that Communist control of southeast Asia would be "a grave threat" to the free world and that:

"The United States feels that that possibility should not be pas-

No Opposition to IBM Water Plan

No opposition was offered at a hearing this morning before Henry M. Schiller, associate engineer of the N. Y. State Water Power and Control Commission in the office of Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, city hall, on the city's application to extend water service to the site of the proposed IBM plant in the town of Ulster.

The hearing, which lasted about an hour, opened at 10 a. m. The state engineer was taken on a tour of the system at the conclusion of the hearing.

One Home Entered, Tools Stolen From Auto; Try Flower Shop

A theft from an automobile, a break at a private home and another attempted break were reported to the police yesterday.

Morton Moseman, of Colonial Gardens, reported at 5:20 p. m., that his car, which had been parked near the apartment building, had been entered during the previous night and a box of tools, valued at $40, a box of fishing tackle, valued at $20, a flashlight and an extinguisher, were taken.

Enter Lowe Home

Charles Brown reported earlier in the day that an attempt had been made to enter his Clifton avenue flower shop, and at 3:48 p. m., police were called to 204 O'Neil street where officers Charles McCullough and John Frasch reported the home of Ethel Lowe had been entered through a cellar window. The interior was ransacked and the walls marked with crayon or lipstick, old coins were taken from a box, and some cash from a jar, they said.

Blast at School Is Fatal to 7 Pupils

Cheektowaga, March 31 (AP)—At least seven children were reported killed today in an explosion and fire that ripped through the frame annex of an elementary school in this Buffalo suburban community.

At least 19 other pupils were burned or otherwise injured.

Firemen and rescue workers reported finding seven bodies in the ruins of the one-story building.

Nearby residents said flames from the building leaped at least 50 feet at the height of the fire.

Tracks Expected to Yield State More Than 60 Million

Albany, March 31 (AP) — New York's 1954 horse-racing season opening tomorrow at Jamaica, is expected to yield the state more than 60 million dollars in direct taxes.

Gov. Dewey, who never has attended a pari-mutuel track but in the last six months has become fairly familiar with the ramifications of the sport, estimates in his budget that the state's share of the betting "bite" will be $58,600,000 an all-time high.

Of this sum, approximately 40 per cent will come from harness tracks. Dewey's estimate apparently was based on the presumption that the scandals that hit the sulky tracks will not hurt attendance or betting.

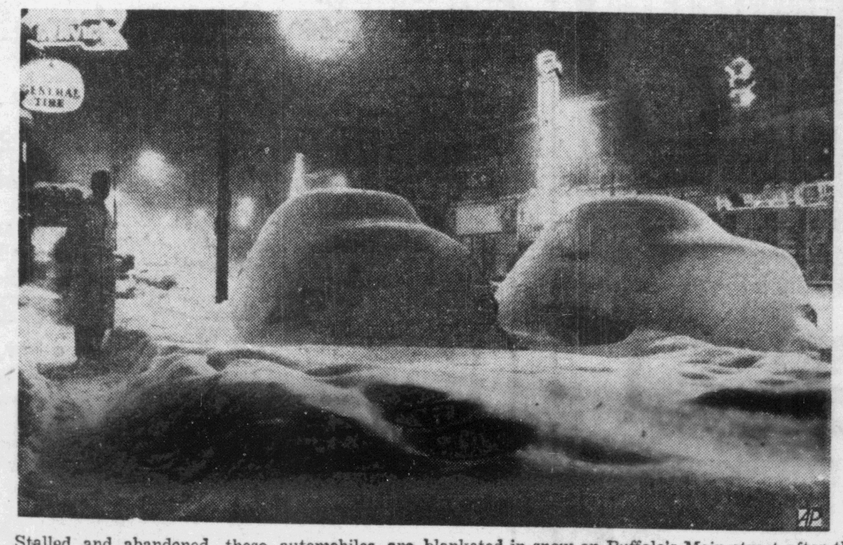

In addition to its take from betting, the state expects to obtain $1,800,000 from its 15 per cent tax on general admissions at flat and harness tracks. That will give it a grand total of $60,400,000.

Of course the fans won't get off the hook for that amount. They will kick in an additional sum at least equivalent to and perhaps greater than $60,400,000.

For what? The tracks' share of

Dairymen, Economists Feel Farm Support Sure to Cut Butter, Other Dairy Prices

Albany, March 31 (AP)—Dairymen and economists—in disagreement about the future of the state's dairy industry—appear sure that tomorrow's cut in government price supports will induce a slice in the retail price of butter.

Ever since Agriculture Secretary Benson announced that, effective April 1, the government would lower price supports under butter, cheese and dried milk from 90 to 75 per cent of parity, New York dairymen's organizations have set up howls of protest.

Among the experts, however, there is difference of opinion as to whether the lower supports will signal a boom, a bust or something in between for the milk producers.

They seem agreed, though, that in the near future housewives will be able to pick up a pound of butter for anywhere from 8 to 12 cents less than they're paying now. They'll save a few cents on cream, cheese and dried milk, too.

Parity is a price described by farm law as being fair to farmers in relation to the price of things they must buy in order to produce. Federal supports are designed to encourage full production by keeping prices attractive to the producer.

Benson told a farm and home week audience at Cornell University last week that the 90 per cent rate no longer could be justified in the name of full production. Could anyone justify it? Benson asked, pointing to more than a billion pounds of surplus butter, dried milk and cheese piled up in government warehouses.

In Washington yesterday, two key members of the Senate Agriculture Committee proposed measures apparently intended to ease the impact of Benson's order.

Senators Anderson (D-N. M.)

Billions of Dead Viruses Will Stimulate Nature Against Polio

(Editors Note—As spring unfolds, up to a million children throughout the country will receive vaccinations against polio. This second of three articles on the historic field tests of Dr. Jonas E. Salks' vaccine reports the method scientists are using to get the final answer on whether man now has the ability to control a disease which struck down 36,000 Americans in 1953.)

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

New York, March 31 (AP)—Each child taking the Salk polio vaccine this spring will have 30 billion dead polio viruses shot into his arm.

Each will get three shots, each shot containing 10 billion viruses.

Because they are dead, the viruses cannot cause polio. But even though dead, they still have some power to stimulate a person to make antibodies, the body's natural disease fighters.

Giving billions of dead viruses means concentrating this antibody-making power.

The big question is whether the vaccine can produce enough antibodies to protect children against natural exposure to live polio virus this summer.

To Tell by Test

All the scientific evidence indicates that it will. But the only way to find out is to have half a million to a million children take the vaccine, and see whether and how well they resist polio this summer.

And the test must be run upon a huge number of children, because paralytic poliomyelitis is actually rather a rare disease.

Polio has been called an epidemic if only 20 out of 100,000 persons come down with it. However, it hits children more often than adults.

If you picked any scattered group of 500,000 children aged 6 to 9, you would expect that about 350 or so would become recognizeably sick next summer with polio. (Of this 350, more than half would recover with no paralysis).

So for an edquate test you must have a million to a million vaccinated children to compare with an equal number of non-vaccinated youngsters of the same ages, living in the same communities.

Among the non-vaccinated half million, there might be 350 cases of polio. How many will there be among the vaccinated half million? No cases? A perfect vaccine. Thirty-five cases? The vaccine would be 90 per cent effective. Very good.

Many Volunteers

Across the nation, children and parents and doctors and nurses and school teachers and health officers are volunteering to take part in this crucial test of the vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk of Pittsburgh.

Local health authorities and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis are conducting the trial. Up to a million children in 179 communities or areas of 44 states are scheduled so far to get the vaccine.

In some communities the vaccine will be offered to all children of the second grade in schools. Children in the first and third grades of the same schools will be recorded as the "controls" or comparisons.

In other communities, half of the children in the first three grades of the school will be given the vaccine. The other half will get identical-looking shots of a fluid which is ineffective. All the syringes, whether containing real vaccine or useless fluid, will bear only code numbers, which will be placed next to the child's name on records made when he takes his shot.

Will Be By Code

These children, their parents and doctors, will not know whether they got the actual vaccine, or ineffectual fluid. The meaning of the code numbers will be known only to a team of experts who will get reports, after the polio season is over, of the names and what happens to children who did develop polio during the summer.

This team, headed by Dr. Thomas Francis Jr., University of Michigan School of Public Health, will receive complete reports on all children—known to be vaccinated or not—in the test areas who are diagnosed as having polio.

That team can then give the answer on whether the vaccine really works.

Only a few years ago the possibility of a practical vaccine looked far distant. Then some great discoveries, mostly made in research supported by the March of Dimes, cracked the barriers to making field tests of a promising vaccine.

Had to Learn Types

First it had to be learned how many different types of polio virus could cause human paralysis. That answer was learned in brilliant, three-year cooperative research by several great medical institutions. There are three dangerous types — Brunhilde, Lansing and Leon.

This meant an effective vaccine would have to contain all three types of polio virus.

But where to get the virus? The roadblock was broken by the success of Dr. John F. Enders of Harvard in growing polio virus in test tube cultures of non-nervous tissues.

Where to get enough virus? The Enders method was developed and improved, until now the kidney tissues from a single monkey can be made to produce enough virus to give a series of vaccine shots to 1,000 children.

This yields a harvest of live virus. The live virus then is killed by bathing it in formaldehyde.

Travels in Blood

And it was found that polio virus, when it attacks, usually goes from the intestinal tract to the bloodstream and then goes on to strike at nerves. This meant that if a person had antibodies standing guard in his bloodstream, he could defeat the attack.

Dr. Salk showed that a vaccine containing dead virus could produce significant, even large, amounts of antibodies in the blood of vaccinated humans.

The stage was all set for the field test.

Five pharmaceutical firms are growing the virus and preparing the vaccine. Each batch of vaccine is tested nine times for safety, to make sure all the viruses are dead, and that the vaccine is pure. Triple tests are made individually by the manufacturer, by Dr. Salk's laboratory, and by the laboratory of biologics control, national institutes of health, U. S. public health service.

Non-Profit Drugs

The national foundation is footing the bill of at least 7½ million dollars. The pharmaceutical firms are making the vaccine for the test, then it could be supplied on large enough amounts for everyone. It would take 40,000 or more monkeys to supply the tissue to grow enough virus for vaccinating all the nation's youngsters.

But there's reason to believe that each child may need only one series of shots for lifetime protection. The job after that would be only to vaccinate each new crop of babies early in life, much as they now get vaccinated for diphtheria and other diseases.

The scourge of polio would be over.

The Pilot Got Away

Lieut. F. J. Repp, of Waukegan, Ill., the pilot, is in the cockpit of this broken, blazing F2H-3 Banshee on the deck of the carrier USS Oriskany. Seconds later he broke free and scrambled away unhurt. Coming in for a landing, March 2, Repp lost altitude, struck the edge of the deck as the jet broke in two and caught fire. Blazing at right is the center fuel tank. (U. S. Navy photo via AP Wirephoto).

Lieut. F. J. Repp, 34, of Waukegan, Ill., is safe and unmarked, posing with another plane after his Banshee crashed and burned on the flight deck of the carrier USS Oriskany, March 2. As fuel blazed about him, Repp scrambled away unharmed. (U. S. Navy photo via AP Wirephoto).

Lost, 100 Pounds

Jamesport, Mo. (AP)—For 38 days a hog belonging to J. M. Altenderfer was missing. Finally a neighbor found it at the bottom of a dry, abandoned well. Although weak, the hog was pronounced in good condition when it was hauled out on a rope. But its weight had shrunk from 250 pounds to 150 pounds in 38 days.

Since 1940, U. S. civilian federal, state and local jobholders have increased in numbers about 60 per cent compared with a rise of about 14 per cent in the total number of U. S. jobs.

Shhh...he's photographing a phone call!

Taking baby pictures is child's play compared to this! Even though there were billions of phone calls made in New York State last year, it's hard to get one to sit still for its picture.

For example, how do you focus? A phone call can be an intimate close-up if you're talking to your young son, or a quick snap if you're calling the movie to see what's playing. And do you take a telephone call smiling—like when you hear, "It's a girl"? Or serious, like when you need a plumber fast?

Hard for a photographer, sure. But easy for you to picture your phone calls. Easy to see, in your own mind's eye, how much it means to have the telephone right at your side—any time of day or night.

It's always ready to melt the miles, to run your errands, to bring your faraway loved ones right into your home. And few things that serve so well cost so very little.

Billions of Dead Viruses Will Stimulate Nature Against Polio

(Editors Note—As spring unfolds, up to a million children throughout the country will receive vaccinations against polio. This second of three articles on the historic field tests of Dr. Jonas E. Salks' vaccine reports the method scientists are using to get the final answer on whether man now has the ability to control a disease which struck down 36,000 Americans in 1953.)

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

New York, March 31 (AP)—Each child taking the Salk polio vaccine this spring will have 30 billion dead polio viruses shot into his arm.

Each will get three shots, each shot containing 10 billion viruses.

Because they are dead, the viruses cannot cause polio. But even though dead, they still have some power to stimulate a person to make antibodies, the body's natural disease fighters.

Giving billions of dead viruses means concentrating this antibody-making power.

The big question is whether the vaccine can produce enough antibodies to protect children against natural exposure to live polio virus this summer.

To Tell by Test

All the scientific evidence indicates that it will. But the only way to find out is to have half a million to a million children take the vaccine, and see whether and how well they resist polio this summer.

And the test must be run upon a huge number of children, because paralytic poliomyelitis is actually rather a rare disease.

Polio has been called an epidemic if only 20 out of 100,000 persons come down with it. However, it hits children more often than adults.

If you picked any scattered group of 500,000 children aged 6 to 9, you would expect that about 350 or so would become recognizeably sick next summer with polio. (Of this 350, more than half would recover with no paralysis).

So for an edquate test you must have a million to a million vaccinated children to compare with an equal number of non-vaccinated youngsters of the same ages, living in the same communities.

Among the non-vaccinated half million, there might be 350 cases of polio. How many will there be among the vaccinated half million? No cases? A perfect vaccine. Thirty-five cases? The vaccine would be 90 per cent effective. Very good.

Many Volunteers

Across the nation, children and parents and doctors and nurses and school teachers and health officers are volunteering to take part in this crucial test of the vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk of Pittsburgh.

Local health authorities and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis are conducting the trial. Up to a million children in 179 communities or areas of 44 states are scheduled so far to get the vaccine.

In some communities the vaccine will be offered to all children of the second grade in schools. Children in the first and third grades of the same schools will be recorded as the "controls" or comparisons.

In other communities, half of the children in the first three grades of the school will be given the vaccine. The other half will get identical-looking shots of a fluid which is ineffective. All the syringes, whether containing real vaccine or useless fluid, will bear only code numbers, which will be placed next to the child's name on records made when he takes his shot.

Will Be By Code

These children, their parents and doctors, will not know whether they got the actual vaccine, or ineffectual fluid. The meaning of the code numbers will be known only to a team of experts who will get reports, after the polio season is over, of the names and what happens to children who did develop polio during the summer.

This team, headed by Dr. Thomas Francis Jr., University of Michigan School of Public Health, will receive complete reports on all children—known to be vaccinated or not—in the test areas who are diagnosed as having polio.

That team can then give the answer on whether the vaccine really works.

Only a few years ago the possibility of a practical vaccine looked far distant. Then some great discoveries, mostly made in research supported by the March of Dimes, cracked the barriers to making field tests of a promising vaccine.

Had to Learn Types

First it had to be learned how many different types of polio virus could cause human paralysis. That answer was learned in brilliant, three-year cooperative research by several great medical institutions. There are three dangerous types — Brunhilde, Lansing and Leon.

This meant an effective vaccine would have to contain all three types of polio virus.

But where to get the virus? The roadblock was broken by the success of Dr. John F. Enders of Harvard in growing polio virus in test tube cultures of non-nervous tissues.

Where to get enough virus? The Enders method was developed and improved, until now the kidney tissues from a single monkey can be made to produce enough virus to give a series of vaccine shots to 1,000 children.

This yields a harvest of live virus. The live virus then is killed by bathing it in formaldehyde.

Travels in Blood

And it was found that polio virus, when it attacks, usually goes from the intestinal tract to the bloodstream and then goes on to strike at nerves. This meant that if a person had antibodies standing guard in his bloodstream, he could defeat the attack.

Dr. Salk showed that a vaccine containing dead virus could produce significant, even large, amounts of antibodies in the blood of vaccinated humans.

The stage was all set for the field test.

Five pharmaceutical firms are growing the virus and preparing the vaccine. Each batch of vaccine is tested nine times for safety, to make sure all the viruses are dead, and that the vaccine is pure. Triple tests are made individually by the manufacturer, by Dr. Salk's laboratory, and by the laboratory of biologics control, national institutes of health, U. S. public health service.

Non-Profit Drugs

The national foundation is footing the bill of at least 7½ million dollars. The pharmaceutical firms are making the vaccine for the test, then it could be supplied on large enough amounts for everyone. It would take 40,000 or more monkeys to supply the tissue to grow enough virus for vaccinating all the nation's youngsters.

But there's reason to believe that each child may need only one series of shots for lifetime protection. The job after that would be only to vaccinate each new crop of babies early in life, much as they now get vaccinated for diphtheria and other diseases.

The scourge of polio would be over.

The Pilot Got Away

Lieut. F. J. Repp, of Waukegan, Ill., the pilot, is in the cockpit of this broken, blazing F2H-3 Banshee on the deck of the carrier USS Oriskany. Seconds later he broke free and scrambled away unhurt. Coming in for a landing, March 2, Repp lost altitude, struck the edge of the deck as the jet broke in two and caught fire. ### Lost, 100 Pounds

Jamesport, Mo. (AP)—For 38 days a hog belonging to J. M. Altenderfer was missing. Finally a neighbor found it at the bottom of a dry, abandoned well. Although weak, the hog was pronounced in good condition when it was hauled out on a rope. But its weight had shrunk from 250 pounds to 150 pounds in 38 days.

Since 1940, U. S. civilian federal, state and local jobholders have increased in numbers about 60 per cent compared with a rise of about 14 per cent in the total number of U. S. jobs.

CATHOLIC CHARITIES

Charity is a virtue most of us practice, especially through voluntary gifts to private organizations. Both private and public welfare agencies share an inter-locking community responsibility for the care of the destitute, the handicapped, the dependent, the aged, the incurable and the sick in body and mind.

The activities of government agencies are prescribed by law; those of the private, voluntary agencies are prescribed by the heart. What our tax dollars are not able to do, our charity dollars can.

The part private organizations can undertake in the welfare program is determined to a great extent by the funds made available through annual appeals to the public at large. One such agency, New York Catholic Charities, is currently conducting its 35th annual appeal to continue and extend its multiple services in the field of social welfare for another year.

The unloved, the unwanted, the unsuccessful come to Catholic Charities seeking a ministry of respect and of love which will restore to them a dignity lost or threatened. Religous sources and spiritual values are brought to the aid of the individual in working out a practical solution to his problems. Family relationships are stressed because Catholic Charities recognizes that, above all, the spiritually healthy family is the greatest asset to our civilization and the family most likely to stay together.

During the past year Catholic Charities met the needs of nearly half a million men, women and children of every race and creed. This contribution to the overall health and welfare program can be continued by supporting the 1954 appeal of Catholic Charities for $2,515,000.

APRIL FOOL?

We know of an investment that will increase itself by 10 per cent. It's guaranteed, safe and sure and you can even get it on the installment plan. If it's lost, stolen or destroyed, you don't have to worry—it's still as good as gold.

Since April 1 is the day traditionally observed for playing harmless tricks on your friends and neighbors, you may think this is an April Fool's Day joke. Not at all. There is such an investment. It's been available for years, and is now even better than ever before. We're talking about United States Savings Bonds.

With Savings Bonds, it's no trick at all to turn $3 into $4. In slightly less than 10 years, every $37.50 you invest will grow to $50. If you hold your Bond for another 10 years, it will reach $67.34 in value. That's 80 per cent more than your original investment.

And when we mentioned that you can buy Bonds on the installment plan, we weren't fooling. By signing up on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, you arrange to have a part of your pay set aside for the regular, automatic purchase of Bonds. The Payroll Savings Plan puts your saving on a sure system. If it is not available where you work, you can buy Savings Bonds regularly at your bank.

Furthermore, we mean what we said about Bonds being safe. Backed up by the full faith and credit of your Government they will be replaced without charge if lost, stolen or destroyed. They're one of the safest investments in the world.

You certainly won't be fooled if you buy Savings Bonds today, tomorrow or any day. You'll be helping yourself to more financial security and helping your country at the same time.

Tomorrow is nice to have around—it promises time to do things put off today. But time neglected is time lost. Do it now should be the daily rule. Unless, naturally, you belong to the lodge whose motto is: Never do today what you can put off till tomorrow. Maybe by Thursday you won't have to do it at all.

THE TWO PARTIES

A correspondent writes:

"Would it not be better to vote for candidates as individuals rather than as boss-ridden Republicans or Democrats? Haven't the electorate the means and wisdom necessary to determine from a man's record whether or not he supports the principles and procedures which he, the individual voter, wishes implemented?

It is a typical question these days and is a response to an increasing weariness with party politics. The citizens want peace, low taxes, sound money; they want an end to an absorption with great affairs.

When administrative agencies of a Republican Administration turn to Democrats to do their work in Congress, the two-party system has virtually collapsed. Party discipline, so essential for a relatively speedy consummation of a legislative program, has altogether disappeared. So weak is Republican leadership that the Vice President is the strongest political figure in his party—something that has not occurred before.

Nevertheless, the two-party system is essential to our way of life and is preferable to the leadership principle which Mussolini and Hitler introduced in Europe to the disadvantage of mankind. Who knows but that the present confusion may lead to a clarification of positions by each party? Perhaps out of the present chaos will come two new parties, let us say, a conservative party and a socialist party, by whatever names they might be called. Surely this would be preferable to the present ideologically undefined parties.

When President Eisenhower was elected, the slogan was, "It's time for a change!" The voters said, "Amen!" In the excitement, the question was not asked, "A change from what to what?" And yet, that is the whole issue. If it was only to be a change from one man to another, the election was not over principles of life; it was a popularity contest. All that was proved was that Dwight D. Eisenhower was more popular with the citizens than Adlai Stevenson; one was a war hero, long and favorably in the public eye; the other was new to the generality.

I am sure that when the citizens voted for a change, they had more than that in mind. But it is not altogether clear what they did have in mind. True, they wanted relief from high taxes, but what would they cut from the budget? Rigid farm supports? The reduction of the huge bureaucracy that took up the slack in employment? Vast government expenditures on local installations? Special benefits and subsidies for particular elements in the population? Lower costs of producing defense essentials? The elimination of waste from government?

The Administration has been in office nearly 15 months and has been fought every inch of the way on these types of changes. The legislative program of the Administration has been delayed by an almost paralyzed Senate that has been unable to organize intellectually in either party since Robert A. Taft died.

It is impossible to underestimate what may eventually mark the turning point in Republican history, the death of Taft. He served in the old tradition of a two-party system, maintaining party lines even when he formed a coalition of the conservative elements on both sides.

The Liberal Party in Great Britain had as long and as significant a history as the Republican Party had had in the United States. It went out after Asquith and Lloyd George because it could not hold to a program. The Labour Party absorbed its intellectual and moral forces. The Labour Party has itself become split between Fabian Socialists and active Marxists who, while not Communists, could be pulled toward United Front activities. It is this split in the British Labour movement which permits the Conservatives to hold power.

Another comparison might be made: no matter which party is in power in Great Britain, national necessity impels either party to pursue a policy of self-preservation. In the United States, national necessity rarely expresses itself politically except in time of war. Local needs, group pressures win an alacritous response, but the sense of possible national doom is so remote from the consciousness of our people that rarely is the course of history placed above momentary considerations. Britain has been served well in this regard, either party in office pursuing a policy of strength even at its country's weakest moment.

In the United States, this attitude has not been cultivated in either party except in the abortive Bipartisan Foreign Policy.

ANTIBIOTICS—GERM KILLERS

We read much today about antibiotics, or germ killers, such as the sulfa drugs and penicillin. In Postgraduate Medicine, Dr. Chester Keefer, Boston University School of Medicine, gives some useful information about antibiotics.

There are five antibiotic drugs in common use today—penicillin, chloromycin, streptomycin, aureomycin, and terramycin. Each of these antibiotics has a definite place in therapeutics (treatment).

Penicillin, aureomycin, chloromycin and terramycin are given by mouth for the treatment of general systemic infections. All of them are absorbed from the stomach and small intestine. Streptomycin is also given by mouth for its local effect in reducing the number of germs in the intestine, but not absorbed.

Penicillin and streptomycin are injected into the muscles for the treatment of systemic infections and aureomycin and terramycin can be injected into the veins when the material is properly prepared.

Unfortunately, the standards of assays were developed with the use of crude and relatively impure streptomycin and before the pure crystalline product has been isolated.

Penicillin is highly effective when given by mouth and it is a convenient way to prescribe this powerful drug. Fortunately, it is not toxic (poisonous). Cases where the penicillin loses its strength by the acid juice of the stomach have now fortunately been corrected by our biochemists.

How can the physician know that he is giving the patient the correct dosage of penicillin? Dr. Keefer states that the most important guide to correct dosage of penicillin by mouth is the effect upon the patient. Experience has established certain dosage by mouth and the amount that is needed for many infections.

Aside from the real effectiveness of penicillin by mouth, it causes no disagreeable side reactions and the percentage of patients sensitive to penicillin by mouth is less than when the muscular injections are given. As an aid to physicians in treating patients, Dr. Keefer states that penicillin by mouth is particularly effective in gonorrhoea and streptococcic infections.

Scourge

We should all know the facts about those two dreaded social diseases—gonorrhoea and syphilis. Read Dr. Barton's booklet on this subject entitled "Scourge," which may be obtained by sending 25 cents, to cover cost of handling and mailing, to The Bell Syndicate, Inc., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Post Office Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Almost Painless Fines

Guthrie, Okla. (AP)—An "honor system" for overparking violators is being considered by the Police Department. Under discussion is the installation of collection boxes on downtown parking meters where the violator could pay his fine without coming to headquarters. He would insert the amount of the fine and his ticket in an envelope then drop it in the box for collection by the patrolman on the beat.

Just Another Problem on a Tedious Journey

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—The difficulties of a big American industrial concern in sponsoring a television or radio show that involves a news-feature presentation on a controversial subject have been pointed up sharply by the McCarthy story.

Ever since Edward R. Murrow put on his March 9 "See It Now" documentary telecast reviewing Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's campaign against communism, there have been rumors that Aluminum Co. of America would bow out as sponsor of this program. It was reportedly too hot to handle.

Inquiry at the Pittsburgh headquarters of Alcoa reveals that the company now has no intention of canceling out. Its contract runs until next December, though the arrangement can be broken at any time on short notice by either Alcoa or Columbia Broadcasting Co.

The original agreement provided that Alcoa would have no censorship over content of the program and CBS would have no control over the commercials, though the latter were to be in keeping with the former.

After the McCarthy show was televised, the sponsor got about 1,000 favorable letters at Pittsburgh. Fewer than 100 protested.

A few of the protests came from stockholders, who have to be listened to. A few others came from customers saying they would never buy another article which had the Alcoa stamp.

There was some concern in Pittsburgh over how good a show like "See It Now" is for selling aluminum products. But now there is full realization that this type of controversial program has made the company's name better known all over America.

The story is told that when Alcoa recently announced it was building a new plant in Iowa, reporters for a local paper went out to ask people on the street what they thought of it.

One woman reported that she thought it was fine to have Alcoa come to town, "but who in the world is going to drink all of it?" That was what set the company on its program to make its name better known and better understood.

The expectation is now that when, or if, Senator McCarthy makes his reply to the Murrow show on April 6, he will have one of the biggest television audiences ever assembled—short of national political convention coverage.

That is one principal reason why the sponsor is taking the excitement over the original show in a relaxed manner. The trade name is now better known than it has been in all the company's 65 years.

There is another factor in this reconsideration. If some company like Alcoa didn't sponsor controversial shows of this kind, who would? Also, how does a sponsor let go of a show like this, without knuckling under completely to noisy pressure groups?

The broadcasting chains can put them on as a public service. But this leaves individual stations the option of not picking up the program. When there is a sponsor and the time is paid for, the show goes on.

From the listener's standpoint, and from the public service standpoint, it is important to have these big issues debated and put on live to the largest possible audience.

If there is to be freedom of radio and freedom of television as there is now freedom of the press, there shouldn't be any curbing of controversy. Among the 1000 favorable letters Alcoa got were a number praising the company for its courage in sponsoring such a performance.

The fact that Senator McCarthy was offered the same time and facilities to answer Murrow's documentary is supposed to take care of any one-sideness or unfairness in the presentation.

But even here there is some comment from the senator's followers that this isn't completely even, either. Murrow is presented as an experienced showman with trained assistants and facilities for producing an effective, professional performance.

Senator McCarthy is presented as an amateur in this field, though that may be open to question.

Pvt. David Schine Case Viewed as One of Many Involving Scandals in U. S.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 31—The worst scandal in the operations of the government of the United States has never been exposed by Congress, but public opinion may force it at last as a direct result of the recent disclosure by the Army that conversations occurred between the legal counsel for the Secretary of the Army and members of a Senate subcommittee staff with respect to "favored treatment" for a member of that staff who had been drafted into the Army.

Congress cannot very well confine itself to one case without revealing to the public all the facts concerning hundreds of other cases of a similar nature in the files. Plainly, since the Army kept such minute records in the case of Pvt. David Schine, it seems certain that equally minute records have been kept on the requests of members of the House and Senate and their staffs who asked "favored treatment" for the sons of relatives of their constituents.

Almost everybody who is at all familiar with governmental operations, especially on Capitol Hill, knows that many a case is on file of boys who were kept from overseas service through political influence. But somehow this never gets written up and, despite the flare-up about Sen. McCarthy's staff, very little has been written out of Washington about the big scandal which this episode may be said to typify.

The exposure of all the facts will show that the "favored treatment" practice has been so widespread that the Army, the Navy and the Air Force are constantly being pressured by various members of Congress. Indeed, it is common knowledge that some of the bureaus of one of the armed services had a special marking during the war for such cases, and the record of the individual concerned was initialed with the letters "P. I.," which meant "political influence." This manner of flagging the file signified that, when it came to ordering those boys into other assignments, the fact that some one in Congress had a special interest in them had to be taken into account by the military officers in charge of personnel.

But who is to investigate the activities of members of Congress in these matters? What committee is to call for the records from the Army, the Navy and the Air Force, especially for the period during the war when most American boys didn't have any political "pull" to keep them from facing the enemy overseas?

In the last couple of weeks some newspaper editorials have declared that the Senate Committee on Government Operations of which Sen. McCarthy is chairman, is ineligible to investigate a row involving members of its own staff, and that the Senate Armed Services Committee should take it over. Is it to be naively assumed that not one of the members of the armed services committee of Congress during this session, or when the Democrats were in control, ever got any favors from the armed services? Any one who knows the facts of legislative life knows that these are the very committees in behalf of whose members the armed services themselves stretch a point as to the personal requests of Congressmen and lean over backward in order to keep the Senators and Representatives in a good humor when they deal with Army, Navy or Air Force legislation. Each armed service actually maintains a "legislative liaison"— an officer or group of officers who often handle these delicate tasks.

Could the appropriations committees of Congress do the investigating job? Obviously not, if the "rules" of ethics which lately have been proclaimed are to be accepted as proper. Some of the members of these appropriations committees are beholden to the armed services for everything from the "favored treatment" of a constituent who wants a job or a commission or a better assignment, to the maintenance of an airport or an appropriation for a navy yard or for some other military installation that means a big pay roll for the local merchants in the home town, district or state of the member of Congress. And home-town merchants often contribute to campaign funds.

When will some member of the Senate or House put an end to all the hypocrisy and, with the courage of his convictions, demand that each of the armed services send to the Vice-President in the Senate and to the Speaker of the House the records of all conversations, monitored and unmonitored, all letters and documents and the file of every soldier, sailor or airman who at the request of a member of Congress or his staff got "favored treatment" during and since World War 2? The mere publication of the records would be enough, and no further investigation by any committee would be needed to apply the corrective that would be demanded by an outraged public opinion.

Unless this is done, the members of the Senate in all fairness ought to admit publicly that what happened in the Schine case has been and still is common practice and is not deserving of prolonged attention just because Pvt. Schine was formerly a member of the staff of Sen. McCarthy, who exposed the now admitted laxity of the Army in its methods of handling Communists.

Palm Beach, Fla., March 30—The great American free press has performed its duty so badly in the McCarthy case that most of the public is thinking of Joe McCarthy and his assistants, Cohn and Schine, as defendants in some sinister performance.

The sojourners who are to be met on this gold coast of Florida are intellectually high-grade. They are, for the most party, not young. The males have taken their part in the wars. There are some Democrats among them, but of a peculiar type which abhors the Roosevelt morality and rejoices in ridicule of the relict as though she were not really a Democrat. These are the well-to-do who, in New York, Republicans as well as Democrats, make a bee-line for a restaurant which was a New Deal political resort from start to finish and is still to the left of center.

It is very difficult to do anything with people economically above the line, who undoubtedly are sentimental patriots but who will not "organize" to snub all publications, advertisers and individuals giving aid and comfort to the agents and friends of the enemy.

But the great American free press has not made a respectable professional effort to keep the issue of treachery before the eyes of the people. If these upper-crust Americans cannot realize that "McCarthyism" is a ruse to divert them from the issue of betrayal, how can the millions in lower economic brackets, whose reason is always affected by envy, discouragement and similar harsh emotions, be expected to stay on the beam?

The press permitted the defendants in this treacherous situation to manufacture the issue of "McCarthyism" and thrust it to the forefront.

What is charged against McCarthy? Simply that he made a confidential remark to some person that he was no longer satisfied with Cohn's work and wanted to replace him. What is charged against Cohn? Simply that he was haughty in demanding that Schine, the committee investigator, be excused from routine duties of an army recruit to complete work for the committee which was in progress when he was drafted. What is charged against Schine? He wore nonregulation shoes because, being 6 ft. 4, he couldn't get his size from the quartermaster.

But even granting all this, are these trifles more important than the question whether our army has been penetrated by communism and the tolerance of communism?

I say it has been penetrated. I have read two budgets of sworn congressional testimony proving that the secret report on the Katyn massacre was ditched or destroyed in the Pentagon so that the guilt of Soviet Russia for this horror would be concealed forever from the American people. I have a copy of a report by the FBI on a very dangerous situation in the American embassy under Admiral Standley in Moscow and Kuibishev, in the course of which Standley told an American officer of high rank that he was unfit to wear the uniform because of his partiality to Russia. I have read testimony by John J. McCloy, now head of the Chase bank and last previously our hicogalorum in Germany, admitting that it was the army's policy to issue commissions to Communists on the arbitrary finding of some vague "authority" that the individual was 51 per cent loyal and only 49 per cent traitor.

I have read testimony that the army was turned upside down on Roosevelt's orders to get a free commission and a relatively safe assignment for Eleanor's friend, Joe Lash. I charge that McCloy retained on his staff in Germany a man who had given asylum in his home to Alger Hiss after Hiss was convicted.

There is abundant similar evidence against the late Robert Patterson, once a Republican who went haywire under Roosevelt.

The simple question in the current climax was "who authorized the promotion and honorable discharge of an army dentist named Peress?"

Is that question an attack on the patriotism of the army?

That is what this shooting is all about, but the great American free press has permitted the guilty circle in Washington to make McCarthy, Cohn and Schine defendants on gossip charging trivial indiscretions.

I could soon present many other cases just as flagrant as the ones I have cited. Yet, the great American free press has blown up the military offense of the non-regulation shoes into a monumental job. But it is a monument to the incompetence, carelessness and gullibility of the American free press.

Outhouses Move Out

Oklahoma City (AP) — Public health officials war relentlessly for modern plumbing—and they're in sight of total victory. H. L. Malone, sanitary engineer for the Oklahoma Department of Health says 90 per cent of the state's urban population has modern disposal systems. About 25 years ago, when the campaign began in Oklahoma, the figure was about 50 per cent. Dr. Grady F. Mathews, commissioner of Public Health, says that before the campaign against outhouses started there were from 3,000 to 5,000 cases of typhoid fever in the state each year with the death rate one in 10. Last year there were 60 cases with one death.

Unhappiness Delays Rent

London (AP)—If married couples are slow in paying the rent, maybe its because they're unhappy, says Miss Joan Scurtton, Oxfordshire housing manager. "Rent is a barometer of family life," she wrote in the bulletin of the (British) National Federation of Housing Societies. Irregular payment or nonpayment is always a danger sign. Although rent collectors find it easy enough to collect nowadays from most tenants, Miss Scrutton said, their great difficulty is extracting the rent from "families where there is real permanent discord."

Ancient Account Closed

St. Louis (AP)—Frank Dahle surprised Alexian Brothers Hospital by offering to pay for a year's treatment given him 48 years ago. He was told to forget about it—the hospital's records for that period had long since been destroyed. "I've got the money now, and I didn't have it then," Dahle explained.

CATHOLIC CHARITIES

Charity is a virtue most of us practice, especially through voluntary gifts to private organizations. Both private and public welfare agencies share an inter-locking community responsibility for the care of the destitute, the handicapped, the dependent, the aged, the incurable and the sick in body and mind.

The activities of government agencies are prescribed by law; those of the private, voluntary agencies are prescribed by the heart. What our tax dollars are not able to do, our charity dollars can.

The part private organizations can undertake in the welfare program is determined to a great extent by the funds made available through annual appeals to the public at large. One such agency, New York Catholic Charities, is currently conducting its 35th annual appeal to continue and extend its multiple services in the field of social welfare for another year.

The unloved, the unwanted, the unsuccessful come to Catholic Charities seeking a ministry of respect and of love which will restore to them a dignity lost or threatened. Religous sources and spiritual values are brought to the aid of the individual in working out a practical solution to his problems. Family relationships are stressed because Catholic Charities recognizes that, above all, the spiritually healthy family is the greatest asset to our civilization and the family most likely to stay together.

During the past year Catholic Charities met the needs of nearly half a million men, women and children of every race and creed. This contribution to the overall health and welfare program can be continued by supporting the 1954 appeal of Catholic Charities for $2,515,000.

APRIL FOOL?

We know of an investment that will increase itself by 10 per cent. It's guaranteed, safe and sure and you can even get it on the installment plan. If it's lost, stolen or destroyed, you don't have to worry—it's still as good as gold.

Since April 1 is the day traditionally observed for playing harmless tricks on your friends and neighbors, you may think this is an April Fool's Day joke. Not at all. There is such an investment. It's been available for years, and is now even better than ever before. We're talking about United States Savings Bonds.

With Savings Bonds, it's no trick at all to turn $3 into $4. In slightly less than 10 years, every $37.50 you invest will grow to $50. If you hold your Bond for another 10 years, it will reach $67.34 in value. That's 80 per cent more than your original investment.

And when we mentioned that you can buy Bonds on the installment plan, we weren't fooling. By signing up on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, you arrange to have a part of your pay set aside for the regular, automatic purchase of Bonds. The Payroll Savings Plan puts your saving on a sure system. If it is not available where you work, you can buy Savings Bonds regularly at your bank.

Furthermore, we mean what we said about Bonds being safe. Backed up by the full faith and credit of your Government they will be replaced without charge if lost, stolen or destroyed. They're one of the safest investments in the world.

You certainly won't be fooled if you buy Savings Bonds today, tomorrow or any day. You'll be helping yourself to more financial security and helping your country at the same time.

Tomorrow is nice to have around—it promises time to do things put off today. But time neglected is time lost. Do it now should be the daily rule. Unless, naturally, you belong to the lodge whose motto is: Never do today what you can put off till tomorrow. Maybe by Thursday you won't have to do it at all.

THE TWO PARTIES

A correspondent writes:

"Would it not be better to vote for candidates as individuals rather than as boss-ridden Republicans or Democrats? Haven't the electorate the means and wisdom necessary to determine from a man's record whether or not he supports the principles and procedures which he, the individual voter, wishes implemented?

It is a typical question these days and is a response to an increasing weariness with party politics. The citizens want peace, low taxes, sound money; they want an end to an absorption with great affairs.

When administrative agencies of a Republican Administration turn to Democrats to do their work in Congress, the two-party system has virtually collapsed. Party discipline, so essential for a relatively speedy consummation of a legislative program, has altogether disappeared. So weak is Republican leadership that the Vice President is the strongest political figure in his party—something that has not occurred before.

Nevertheless, the two-party system is essential to our way of life and is preferable to the leadership principle which Mussolini and Hitler introduced in Europe to the disadvantage of mankind. Who knows but that the present confusion may lead to a clarification of positions by each party? Perhaps out of the present chaos will come two new parties, let us say, a conservative party and a socialist party, by whatever names they might be called. Surely this would be preferable to the present ideologically undefined parties.

When President Eisenhower was elected, the slogan was, "It's time for a change!" The voters said, "Amen!" In the excitement, the question was not asked, "A change from what to what?" And yet, that is the whole issue. If it was only to be a change from one man to another, the election was not over principles of life; it was a popularity contest. All that was proved was that Dwight D. Eisenhower was more popular with the citizens than Adlai Stevenson; one was a war hero, long and favorably in the public eye; the other was new to the generality.

I am sure that when the citizens voted for a change, they had more than that in mind. But it is not altogether clear what they did have in mind. True, they wanted relief from high taxes, but what would they cut from the budget? Rigid farm supports? The reduction of the huge bureaucracy that took up the slack in employment? Vast government expenditures on local installations? Special benefits and subsidies for particular elements in the population? Lower costs of producing defense essentials? The elimination of waste from government?

The Administration has been in office nearly 15 months and has been fought every inch of the way on these types of changes. The legislative program of the Administration has been delayed by an almost paralyzed Senate that has been unable to organize intellectually in either party since Robert A. Taft died.

It is impossible to underestimate what may eventually mark the turning point in Republican history, the death of Taft. He served in the old tradition of a two-party system, maintaining party lines even when he formed a coalition of the conservative elements on both sides.

The Liberal Party in Great Britain had as long and as significant a history as the Republican Party had had in the United States. It went out after Asquith and Lloyd George because it could not hold to a program. The Labour Party absorbed its intellectual and moral forces. The Labour Party has itself become split between Fabian Socialists and active Marxists who, while not Communists, could be pulled toward United Front activities. It is this split in the British Labour movement which permits the Conservatives to hold power.

Another comparison might be made: no matter which party is in power in Great Britain, national necessity impels either party to pursue a policy of self-preservation. In the United States, national necessity rarely expresses itself politically except in time of war. Local needs, group pressures win an alacritous response, but the sense of possible national doom is so remote from the consciousness of our people that rarely is the course of history placed above momentary considerations. Britain has been served well in this regard, either party in office pursuing a policy of strength even at its country's weakest moment.

In the United States, this attitude has not been cultivated in either party except in the abortive Bipartisan Foreign Policy.

ANTIBIOTICS—GERM KILLERS

We read much today about antibiotics, or germ killers, such as the sulfa drugs and penicillin. In Postgraduate Medicine, Dr. Chester Keefer, Boston University School of Medicine, gives some useful information about antibiotics.

There are five antibiotic drugs in common use today—penicillin, chloromycin, streptomycin, aureomycin, and terramycin. Each of these antibiotics has a definite place in therapeutics (treatment).

Penicillin, aureomycin, chloromycin and terramycin are given by mouth for the treatment of general systemic infections. All of them are absorbed from the stomach and small intestine. Streptomycin is also given by mouth for its local effect in reducing the number of germs in the intestine, but not absorbed.

Penicillin and streptomycin are injected into the muscles for the treatment of systemic infections and aureomycin and terramycin can be injected into the veins when the material is properly prepared.

Unfortunately, the standards of assays were developed with the use of crude and relatively impure streptomycin and before the pure crystalline product has been isolated.

Penicillin is highly effective when given by mouth and it is a convenient way to prescribe this powerful drug. Fortunately, it is not toxic (poisonous). Cases where the penicillin loses its strength by the acid juice of the stomach have now fortunately been corrected by our biochemists.

How can the physician know that he is giving the patient the correct dosage of penicillin? Dr. Keefer states that the most important guide to correct dosage of penicillin by mouth is the effect upon the patient. Experience has established certain dosage by mouth and the amount that is needed for many infections.

Aside from the real effectiveness of penicillin by mouth, it causes no disagreeable side reactions and the percentage of patients sensitive to penicillin by mouth is less than when the muscular injections are given. As an aid to physicians in treating patients, Dr. Keefer states that penicillin by mouth is particularly effective in gonorrhoea and streptococcic infections.

Almost Painless Fines

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—The difficulties of a big American industrial concern in sponsoring a television or radio show that involves a news-feature presentation on a controversial subject have been pointed up sharply by the McCarthy story.

Ever since Edward R. Murrow put on his March 9 "See It Now" documentary telecast reviewing Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's campaign against communism, there have been rumors that Aluminum Co. of America would bow out as sponsor of this program. It was reportedly too hot to handle.

Inquiry at the Pittsburgh headquarters of Alcoa reveals that the company now has no intention of canceling out. Its contract runs until next December, though the arrangement can be broken at any time on short notice by either Alcoa or Columbia Broadcasting Co.

The original agreement provided that Alcoa would have no censorship over content of the program and CBS would have no control over the commercials, though the latter were to be in keeping with the former.

After the McCarthy show was televised, the sponsor got about 1,000 favorable letters at Pittsburgh. Fewer than 100 protested.

A few of the protests came from stockholders, who have to be listened to. A few others came from customers saying they would never buy another article which had the Alcoa stamp.

There was some concern in Pittsburgh over how good a show like "See It Now" is for selling aluminum products. But now there is full realization that this type of controversial program has made the company's name better known all over America.

The story is told that when Alcoa recently announced it was building a new plant in Iowa, reporters for a local paper went out to ask people on the street what they thought of it.

One woman reported that she thought it was fine to have Alcoa come to town, "but who in the world is going to drink all of it?" That was what set the company on its program to make its name better known and better understood.

The expectation is now that when, or if, Senator McCarthy makes his reply to the Murrow show on April 6, he will have one of the biggest television audiences ever assembled—short of national political convention coverage.

That is one principal reason why the sponsor is taking the excitement over the original show in a relaxed manner. The trade name is now better known than it has been in all the company's 65 years.

There is another factor in this reconsideration. If some company like Alcoa didn't sponsor controversial shows of this kind, who would? Also, how does a sponsor let go of a show like this, without knuckling under completely to noisy pressure groups?

The broadcasting chains can put them on as a public service. But this leaves individual stations the option of not picking up the program. When there is a sponsor and the time is paid for, the show goes on.

From the listener's standpoint, and from the public service standpoint, it is important to have these big issues debated and put on live to the largest possible audience.

If there is to be freedom of radio and freedom of television as there is now freedom of the press, there shouldn't be any curbing of controversy. Among the 1000 favorable letters Alcoa got were a number praising the company for its courage in sponsoring such a performance.

The fact that Senator McCarthy was offered the same time and facilities to answer Murrow's documentary is supposed to take care of any one-sideness or unfairness in the presentation.

But even here there is some comment from the senator's followers that this isn't completely even, either. Murrow is presented as an experienced showman with trained assistants and facilities for producing an effective, professional performance.

Senator McCarthy is presented as an amateur in this field, though that may be open to question.

I have a copy of a report by the FBI on a very dangerous situation in the American embassy under Admiral Standley in Moscow and Kuibishev, in the course of which Standley told an American officer of high rank that he was unfit to wear the uniform because of his partiality to Russia. I have read testimony by John J. McCloy, now head of the Chase bank and last previously our hicogalorum in Germany, admitting that it was the army's policy to issue commissions to Communists on the arbitrary finding of some vague "authority" that the individual was 51 per cent loyal and only 49 per cent traitor.

I have read testimony that the army was turned upside down on Roosevelt's orders to get a free commission and a relatively safe assignment for Eleanor's friend, Joe Lash. I charge that McCloy retained on his staff in Germany a man who had given asylum in his home to Alger Hiss after Hiss was convicted.

There is abundant similar evidence against the late Robert Patterson, once a Republican who went haywire under Roosevelt.

The simple question in the current climax was "who authorized the promotion and honorable discharge of an army dentist named Peress?"

Is that question an attack on the patriotism of the army?

That is what this shooting is all about, but the great American free press has permitted the guilty circle in Washington to make McCarthy, Cohn and Schine defendants on gossip charging trivial indiscretions.

I could soon present many other cases just as flagrant as the ones I have cited. Yet, the great American free press has blown up the military offense of the non-regulation shoes into a monumental job. But it is a monument to the incompetence, carelessness and gullibility of the American free press.

Outhouses Move Out

Oklahoma City (AP) — Public health officials war relentlessly for modern plumbing—and they're in sight of total victory. H. L. Malone, sanitary engineer for the Oklahoma Department of Health says 90 per cent of the state's urban population has modern disposal systems. About 25 years ago, when the campaign began in Oklahoma, the figure was about 50 per cent. Dr. Grady F. Mathews, commissioner of Public Health, says that before the campaign against outhouses started there were from 3,000 to 5,000 cases of typhoid fever in the state each year with the death rate one in 10. Last year there were 60 cases with one death.

Unhappiness Delays Rent

London (AP)—If married couples are slow in paying the rent, maybe its because they're unhappy, says Miss Joan Scurtton, Oxfordshire housing manager. "Rent is a barometer of family life," she wrote in the bulletin of the (British) National Federation of Housing Societies. Irregular payment or nonpayment is always a danger sign. Although rent collectors find it easy enough to collect nowadays from most tenants, Miss Scrutton said, their great difficulty is extracting the rent from "families where there is real permanent discord."

Ancient Account Closed

St. Louis (AP)—Frank Dahle surprised Alexian Brothers Hospital by offering to pay for a year's treatment given him 48 years ago. He was told to forget about it—the hospital's records for that period had long since been destroyed. "I've got the money now, and I didn't have it then," Dahle explained.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Six Spades Seem a Popular Contract

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When today's hand was played in a tournament some years ago, six spades was a very popular contract. The slam was popular with North and South because there seemed to be a fine play for the contract; and it was popular with East and West because they usually wound up with a score of plus 100 for defeating the slam.

At all tables West opened the four of hearts. Declarer usually won the first trick with dummy's ace, ruffed a heart, and tried a spade finesse. East won with the king of spades and got out safely with a trump or a club. South eventually had to lose a diamond trick, and there went the slam.

The slam was made at one table where the South player was the late Dr. Louis Mark of Columbus, O. He began with the ace of hearts and a heart ruff, but then cashed the top clubs and ruffed a club.

He next led the queen of spades but decided against a finesse. The fall of the cards indicated that West had length in hearts and in clubs. If West had also held the king of spades, he might have raised his partner's bid to two hearts.

Dr. Mark therefore put up dummy's ace of spades, ruffed dummy's last club, and then gave up a spade trick to East's king.

East had to return a diamond, since a third round of hearts would allow declarer to ruff while dummy discarded a losing diamond. East deceptively returned the jack of diamonds, but Dr. Mark was not fooled by this play.

It was clear that East held three diamonds and West only two. If East had held three diamonds headed by the jack, he would have returned a low diamond instead of the jack.

Acting on this analysis Dr. Mark won the diamond return with dummy's king and led the ten of diamonds for a finesse through East's queen. When this finesse succeeded, the slam contract was home.

Lenten Services

First Presbyterian

The Cost of Discipleship will be the subject of sermon by the Rev. Dr. William Lloyd Imes at the second of three special Lenten services, Thursday at 8 p. m. in the First Presbyterian Church, Elmendorf street and Tremper avenue.

Dr. Imes, who has been field director for social and Adult Education of the New York State Council of Churches since 1947, was the guest preacher last year at the local community Easter dawn service; and in 1951 and 1952 he was guest preacher at a Union Lenten Service of the uptown churches. He is considered one of the foremost preachers of the Negro race, and his career in the Christian ministry has been distinguished, both as preacher, pastor, college president and author.

Graduating from Fisk University with a Master's degree, he later graduated from Union Theological Seminary and, at the same time, won a Master's degree in the social sciences from Columbia University. In the pastorate he served three churches from 1915 to 1943, the last one being St. James Presbyterian Church, New York city, for 18 years, from which he was called to the presidency of Knoxville College where he ministered for four years until he assumed his present position in the cooperative work of the Protestant churches of the Empire State. Since 1942 he has been a director of Union Theological Seminary, and likewise of Fisk University since 1936.

The musical program for the service, arranged by Miss Edna Merrihew, organist and choir director, is to be as follows: Anthem by the senior choir, Come Unto Me by Schubert, with incidental solo by Edward Granberg, baritone; duet, I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say by Rathbun, sung by Inez Ward, soprano, and Mr. Granberg. The Rev. William J. McVey, pastor, will preside.

For the third and final service of the series, April 8, the preacher is to be the former pastor, the Rev. Dr. Putnam Cady of Fonda, a most remarkable man who will be 91 years old May 15. To these Lenten services, which are sponsored by the Session, a cordial invitation is extended to the public.

Good Luck Rides On

Oklahoma City (AP)—Mike McGrew deputy U. S. marshal here, has carried his son's first baby shoe as a good luck charm for 13 years. He has had it hanging on the rear-view mirror of four automobiles and during the war, kept it in the pocket of his army uniform. The shoe made two invasions and six times crossed the Mediterranean Sea. McGrew once was thrown out into the sea but he and the shoe came out safely. McGrew estimates the shoe traveled 418,000 miles in his four cars. The deputy marshal is getting a new car but he's facing troubles. The mirror is in such a position that the shoe can't ride as it did before. However, the deputy marshal vows he'll work out something. He couldn't go anyplace without the good luck charm.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

LADY ON THE LOOSE

There's a taxi driver named Herkie who has "played the line" in front of my theatre for almost as long as I have owned it. He's a gabby sort of guy and, as a rule, what he has to say isn't worth the strain on his tongue. The other night, however, while driving me downtown, he told me a story which I think rates a few sticks of type . . .

According to Herkie, a few evenings back he was cruising in the vicinity of Grand Central Station when a woman got into his cab and asked him to "just drive around for a couple of hours."

As he saw her in his rear-view mirror, she was in her mid-30's, modishly dressed, brunette and plenty pretty.

Two hours later, the meter registered almost $10. Despite this, the cabbie wasn't feeling too good. A tooth was giving him trouble.

"I'm going to turn in, Lady," he said. "Where do I drop you?"

"Where's your garage?" asked the brunette.

"Up in the Bronx," said Herkie.

"I'll ride up with you," said the woman.

As Herkie got to the garage, the brunette said, "Are you going right home?"

"No," said Herkie. "Probably stop off somewhere and have a couple of drinks."

"Mind if I go along?" said the woman. "We'll split the check."

"Suit yourself," said Herkie.

Ordinarily, had it not been for the aching tooth, Herkie would have suggested they make a night of it. The brunette, in anybody's book, was a "looker."

After putting his cab away, Herkie walked the woman to a tavern on Jerome avenue which sported a bar, a jukebox and a doily-size dance floor.

"Scotch and soda," said the brunette. "And please call me Helen."

The cabbie noticed she was wearing a wedding ring. "Another of those cheating dames," he told himself. "Probably lied to her husband about spending the evening with a sick friend."

The woman put a quarter in the juke box and selected five bouncy records.

"Let's dance," she said.

"Don't specially feel like it," said Herkie. "Maybe some of the other fellas will dance with you."

Without much coaxing, several of them did. One even got a little fresh. Helen was a good sport, though, and passed it off as a joke.

An hour later she said, "Let's go to another place. One with a good jive band."

"As I told ya," said Herkie, "I ain't feeling good."

"Please," said the woman. "Pretty please. I'm having such a good time."

Reluctantly, Herkie took her to a cabaret on Fordham Road, and after more drinks and dances she fast-talked him into taking her to a third joint.

Around 3 a. m., as the musicians were putting their instruments away, Helen put on her coat.

"You've been very kind," she said to Herkie. "Before I catch the morning train back to Stamford, I think I ought to tell you what this is all about. You see, for a long time now I've been having trouble with my eyes, and next Monday I'm going into a hospital for an operation which may leave me permanently blind."

"That's awful," said Herkie.

"I can take the blindness," said the brunette. "What I can't take is the way my family has been treating me since the specialist gave us the bad news. Everybody acts as if I were going to die. My husband, my children, the neighbors—they're all so sympathetic that it's like living in a funeral parlor. Even our dog, a boxer, seems to know something is wrong, and he doesn't jump all over me when I came in the way he used to.

"Well, this sort of treatment got me feeling so low this afternoon that I just had to come to New York where people who didn't know me would treat me like a normal person. Thanks for everything . . ."

"How did the brunette's operation work out?" I asked the cabbie.

"I ain't seen her since," said Herkie. "So I wouldn't know. All I know is I don't feel so good about how I acted that night.

For a good five hours, a lady in real bad trouble danced and made jokes and never beefed once. Me —all I did was grouch and try to get rid of her. And all because the cap was loose on one of my front teeth and giving me a nickel's worth of pain!"

LADY ON THE LOOSE

There's a taxi driver named Herkie who has "played the line" in front of my theatre for almost as long as I have owned it. He's a gabby sort of guy and, as a rule, what he has to say isn't worth the strain on his tongue. The other night, however, while driving me downtown, he told me a story which I think rates a few sticks of type . . .

According to Herkie, a few evenings back he was cruising in the vicinity of Grand Central Station when a woman got into his cab and asked him to "just drive around for a couple of hours."

As he saw her in his rear-view mirror, she was in her mid-30's, modishly dressed, brunette and plenty pretty.

Two hours later, the meter registered almost $10. Despite this, the cabbie wasn't feeling too good. A tooth was giving him trouble.

"I'm going to turn in, Lady," he said. "Where do I drop you?"

"Where's your garage?" asked the brunette.

"Up in the Bronx," said Herkie.

"I'll ride up with you," said the woman.

As Herkie got to the garage, the brunette said, "Are you going right home?"

"No," said Herkie. "Probably stop off somewhere and have a couple of drinks."

"Mind if I go along?" said the woman. "We'll split the check."

"Suit yourself," said Herkie.

Ordinarily, had it not been for the aching tooth, Herkie would have suggested they make a night of it. The brunette, in anybody's book, was a "looker."

After putting his cab away, Herkie walked the woman to a tavern on Jerome avenue which sported a bar, a jukebox and a doily-size dance floor.

"Scotch and soda," said the brunette. "And please call me Helen."

The cabbie noticed she was wearing a wedding ring. "Another of those cheating dames," he told himself. "Probably lied to her husband about spending the evening with a sick friend."

The woman put a quarter in the juke box and selected five bouncy records.

"Let's dance," she said.

"Don't specially feel like it," said Herkie. "Maybe some of the other fellas will dance with you."

Without much coaxing, several of them did. One even got a little fresh. Helen was a good sport, though, and passed it off as a joke.

An hour later she said, "Let's go to another place. One with a good jive band."

"As I told ya," said Herkie, "I ain't feeling good."

"Please," said the woman. "Pretty please. I'm having such a good time."

Reluctantly, Herkie took her to a cabaret on Fordham Road, and after more drinks and dances she fast-talked him into taking her to a third joint.

Around 3 a. m., as the musicians were putting their instruments away, Helen put on her coat.

"You've been very kind," she said to Herkie. "Before I catch the morning train back to Stamford, I think I ought to tell you what this is all about. You see, for a long time now I've been having trouble with my eyes, and next Monday I'm going into a hospital for an operation which may leave me permanently blind."

"That's awful," said Herkie.

"I can take the blindness," said the brunette. "What I can't take is the way my family has been treating me since the specialist gave us the bad news. Everybody acts as if I were going to die. My husband, my children, the neighbors—they're all so sympathetic that it's like living in a funeral parlor. Even our dog, a boxer, seems to know something is wrong, and he doesn't jump all over me when I came in the way he used to.

"Well, this sort of treatment got me feeling so low this afternoon that I just had to come to New York where people who didn't know me would treat me like a normal person. Thanks for everything . . ."

"How did the brunette's operation work out?" I asked the cabbie.

"I ain't seen her since," said Herkie. "So I wouldn't know. All I know is I don't feel so good about how I acted that night.

For a good five hours, a lady in real bad trouble danced and made jokes and never beefed once. Me —all I did was grouch and try to get rid of her. And all because the cap was loose on one of my front teeth and giving me a nickel's worth of pain!"

Bow Bells Return

London (AP)—The war blitzed church of St. Mary-le-Bow is being restored and in time, cockney children will again be born "within the sound of Bow Bells." However, it may be four years before the famous Christopher Wren church with its 12 bells will rise on its Cheapside site not far from St. Paul's Cathedral. It dates back to 1680. The word "cockney" is a colloquial term applied to Londoners generally who can produce an accent all their own. By popular agreement those born within the sound of Bow Bells can claim rightful cockney origin.

Children Need a Chance To Do Some Giving, Too

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

A Boy Scout sees a feeble old lady hesitate at a curb and offers to escort her across the street. What happens as she leans on him?

Well, she contrasts her weakness with his strength. By making her demand on his strength, she helps him discover that he's got it. She gives him new respect for his strength.

Between you and me, she does the Boy Scout the favor.

She yields him the moral advantage of giving.

Sometimes we have jealous over-demanding children because we never yield them the moral advantage of giving. We insist on doing the giving, because we're scared not to. We don't make demands on their strength, so they get the idea they haven't any.

And they drive us demented with their demands on ours.

Take Bruno, now six. Soon after his sister was born, his boisterous presence in his two-room house was too much for his convalescent mother. So that he was put in a day nursery for a while.

His parents felt guilty about this—so guilty that when Bruno came home again, they were afraid to say "No" to anything he asked.

Feeling obligated, they gave in to his increasing demands for more attention, more toys, more fun, more everything than his sister had. Though Bruno despearately needed the reassurance of strength involved in giving to them occasionally, his parents couldn't spare him any. Because they felt so guilty about the day nursery, they needed all the prestige of giving themselves.

If strength is never demanded of us, I don't know how we can be expected to discover we have some. If it's never demanded of us, like Bruno, we may become more and more frantically dependent on others' strength.

So when our jealous, overdemanding child makes a fuss for attention at Sissy's mealtime, we make our counterdemand.

We say, "You want some love, do you?" Well, I do, too. How I'd love you to sing me the Jack o' Lantern song while I finish nursing Sissy!"

Once we see that the counterdemand is to yield Bruno the moral advantage of giving, we've found the principle of love we've been looking for to help him. We discard the defensiveness and fear of denying anything he asks.

We ourselves begin to want to give to him spontaneously and sincerely instead of from the secret resentment we have been feeling for him.

Becomes Citizen

The fourth grade reports that Gigi Karley is now an American citizen. She is very proud to be one and showed her classmates two interesting booklets she had received and described some of the steps taken. Edgar Roesch gave a talk on his recent visit to New York and Floyd Turner told about his trip to Washington, D. C.

The sixth, seventh and eighth grades had a patriotic assembly program this week and enjoyed a filmstrip entitled Freedom's Flag. This film told about the flag and the correct way to display it. Spring has given the boys and girls the chance to once again use the playground. The sixth graders have discussed playground safety and hope to display their health and safety posters soon.

Motto Chosen

The eighth grade has chosen at its motto Ambition, Bravery and Courage Are the ABC's of Life. The class is busy planning its educational trip to New York for the second week in May. They hope to visit the UN and the Museum of Natural History. The junior high science classes have been running germination tests. They also made a distillation outfit by bending glass into the desired shapes and heating the water over the Bunsen burner. The eighth grade English students are writing an original story, Pokey Possum, to be printed as a serial in the school paper.

Intermediate Reading

Daily reading classes are held in the third, fourth and fifth grades with each class divided into two or three reading groups. These intermediate people, having mastered the process of reading in the primary grades, are now ready to expand their classes to include vocabulary work, using the dictionary, reading for meaning, reading for expression, poetry, the independent reading of library books, and enjoying Weekly Readers, a current events newspaper. The third grade stresses word analysis and phonic work and has just completed the story Lambkin's Terrible Hat from their text, Streets and Roads.

Just Imagine, a new book at MCS this year called the Transition Edition, has been very successful in the fourth grade as it starts out introducing only a few new words and contains exciting stories to stimulate the children's interest. The regular text Times and Places is also used. Each week 10 words are selected from that week's reading for dictionary practice by fourth grade students. They also enjoy bringing in reading matter for the bulletin board and listening to a Treasury of Hero Stories which Mrs. Roosa is reading.

The fifth grade holds reading group classes every day with one day of the week devoted to individual reading. They also continue vocabulary and dictionary work, give oral book reports, make use of the reading workbook entitled Think and Do, which accompanies their text, Days and Deeds, and use the Weekly Reader.

The regular text Times and Places is also used. Each week 10 words are selected from that week's reading for dictionary practice by fourth grade students. They also enjoy bringing in reading matter for the bulletin board and listening to a Treasury of Hero Stories which Mrs. Roosa is reading.

The fifth grade holds reading group classes every day with one day of the week devoted to individual reading. They also continue vocabulary and dictionary work, give oral book reports, make use of the reading workbook entitled Think and Do, which accompanies their text, Days and Deeds, and use the Weekly Reader.

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

A leading woman's magazine tells its readers that they must "submit to international law based on (listen to this!) supra-national morality."

Mr. Hutton

Now isn't that just ducky? Some international super-body that can't agree that there is a God, and so opens its meetings without asking His blessing, is a-going to write up some international law based on supra-national morality!

Yes, Madam, a group of "world leaders" like Mao, Molotov, Nehru, Tito, Peron and Mrs. Roosevelt will gather round the table and fix us up a brand new supra-de-luxe code of morals, to which you must "submit."

This puts these world leaders ahead of God. If there was ever a mess of atheistic communist piffle that beats this, I've never it.

The editors must think their readers will twitter and chirp over his "sqush" and say "How exciting! Supra-National morality! Just think of that! I must organize a Supra-National Discussion Group right away. Won't the girls just love it!

So step aside, ministers, priests and rabbis. Make way for the Supra-National super politicians.

"Supra-National" by the way, ain't in the dictionary. But what of that?

The Ten Commandments, the Sermon on the Mount and the Declaration of Independence are all out of date!

"Onward, Supra-National soldiers, Marching as to War!"

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

One of our friends, who sees usefulness in the Theory of Contrary Opinion, recently came up with an appropriate phrase to describe the aim, or objectives, in adopting contrary opinions.

"They add," said he, "a new dimension in your thinking."

The Ruminator likes this idea and so passes it along. Don't you agree that the phrase does suggest a tangible usefulness in "being contrary?"

Certainly, living as we do under the pressure of propaganda (much of which is false, circulated to deceive) we require some mental antidote to crowd-thinking. Contrary opinions do alert you to sudden changes in trends brought about by mass manias. They guide you, I believe, ahead of time and keep you from being influenced — often unconsciously influenced—by "what everybody thinks."

You may recall Schiller's dictum, which Bernard Baruch quoted in his foreward to that fascinating book by Charles Mackay, titled "Memoirs of Extraordinary Popular Delusions and the Madness of Crowds." "Anyone taken as an individual is tolerably sensible and reasonable; as a member of a crowd, he at once becomes a blockhead."

You see this trait of the mass mind in all kinds of public questions—not only in economics, by any means. You see it in politics repeatedly. You are witnessing it at present in the tug-of-war between liberals and conservatives. In the past few years it has been observed in such varying news-events as the dismissal of General MacArthur, in President Truman's seizure of the steel mills, and currently in the McCarthy affair.

These "mass upheavals of thought" assume dizzying proportions sometimes. Newspapers, radio, and television magnify the "debates" far beyond their importance. People take sides, largely motivated by their emotions.

And—which is significant—the socio-political aspects are injected into these public discussions because we are living in "revolutionary" times.

Take the McCarthy case, as an example. The issue has become a social question. The articulate liberals—I might make it more emphatic, by calling them the noisy liberals, because they sound off at every opportunity against the adherents of the right-wing philosophy—the liberals grab the the McCarthy spotlight to further their ideas. The McCarthy affair is thus developing into a case of liberals versus conservatives: the right-versus-the-left.

You cannot possibly follow these emotional uprisings unless you adopt some form of a mental corrective that will prevent your being carried away by your "feelings."

The Ruminator does not know of any better method to adopt than to examine the opposite viewpoints when mass opinions are in the ascendancy.

Let's look at a couple of examples.

Senator Flanders says Senator McCarthy is "shattering" the Republican party. The opposite to this is that Republicans by castigating McCarthy instead of trying to work out smoother arrangements with him are the ones who may break up the party. You take it from there and think it out for yourself.

For another sidelight, at the luncheon table the other day one chap was rather violently anti-McCarthy in his remarks—which is common today, of course. Another table companion asked him if he had happened to listen to Fulton Lewis on the radio the night before. "Good lord, no," the first chap replied. "Lewis is prejudiced. I wouldn't waste my time listening to him."

A ridiculous comment, as you will agree, because every commentator is prejudiced. Objective reporting is a lost art. Opinionating is what people listen for, and look for, on the radio and in columns. So you are forced to read and listen to those with whom you may be in emotional disagreement, if you have any interest in both sides of public questions.

In many respects it is unfortunate, perhaps, that radio and television have become so popular and universally "followed." (I use the word "followed" advisedly because countless people do follow what they see and hear, rather than to choose their own paths of thinking.) The result is that mass opinions are easily created. So I believe that more and more we need to add a new dimension in our thinking.

Cars Get Safety Belts

Toronto (AP) — Aircraft-type safety belts are being tried in police and fire department automobiles. Study of accidents showed the most vulnerable seat is that at the right-hand of the driver, from which the passenger is thrown by collision against the dashboard or through the windshield. It has been called the "suicide seat."

The six so-called platinum metals are platinum, palladium, rhodium, iridium, osmium and ruthenium.

Pensioners Stay Healthy

Sydney, N. S. (AP)—They say if you put a Scotsman on pension he'll live forever. Bolstering this adage are 15 ex-miners, mostly of Scottish descent, on the pension rolls of a coal company here. All are over 90 years old, and all plan to enjoy retirement for years to come. They are some of the men who started in the pits at 11 or 12 years of age, back in the days before child labor laws and trade unions. They earned up to 50 cents a day. Some worked in the same mine-shaft for more than 50 years.

Directions Mixed

Irwinton, Ga. (AP)—State troopers went to a rural home to pick up a man's driver's license for failure to report an accident. The man's wife said he was away, cutting wood. But the officers asked a little boy where his father was and he pointed in an opposite direction from the one his mother had given. Then, when one of them asked the lad if his daddy was making whiskey the youngster replied "Uh-huh." The troopers seized a big still.

Jailbirds in Cells

Fort Madison, Iowa (AP)—Convicts at Iowa State Penitentiary here, for good behavior, are permitted to keep pet parakeets. About 100 of the 1,255 inmates have parakeets in their cells. "It's my biggest source of entertainment," writes one prisoner in the latest issue of the prison magazine.

Hold Two in Murder

New York, March 31 (AP)—Authorities are holding 15-year-old Theresa Gersh and her teen-age beau as partners in the murder of Theresa's mother. The buxom high school girl hung her head while police booked her on a first degree murder charge yesterday. She faces a possible death penalty, if convicted. The girl's boy friend William D. Snyder, 17, is being held at Parris Island, S. C., marine base for extradition to New York. Mrs. Anna Gresh, 43, had surprised the two in intimacies, police investigators reported. The woman's body was found last Friday, stabbed 21 times and stuffed in a wash tub in her lower east side apartment. She had been dead since March 4.

HE MADE A HOME

In the early fall a local man made a $400 repair loan at the State of New York National Bank to fix up his heating unit. Later he borrowed again to install a downstairs bathroom. He had previously put in a driveway with a repair loan. In fact, with the help of modernization loans from year to year he has made his home more attractive and livable.

The cost of a modernization and repair loan is reasonable, repayable in convenient monthly installments which may be extended up to three years.

Brewed to the American taste . . . to the American figure

Ballantine Beer watches your belt-line
...with fewer calories than any other leading beer

It's good news that all of the leading beers today are lower in calories than they used to be . . . that all are starch-free and none has more than a negligible trace of sugar.

Particularly good news—if you're counting up your calorie quota—that independent laboratory tests show Ballantine has fewer calories than any other leading beer.

Ballantine, you know, not only watches your belt-line . . . Ballantine Beer is brewed to the American taste and to the American figure.

Ballantine Beer is the product of 114 years of brewing experience. Brewed from nature's finest barley malt and hops, it has the same full flavor and fine character that have made it one of America's largest selling beers.

Next time, ask the man for Ballantine—the low-calorie beer with the flavor that chill can't kill!

Pickets Halt Work At Atomic Plants

Oak Ridge, Tenn., March 31 (AP)—Approximately 6,500 AFL construction workers honored picket lines today, halting work on two vast atomic plant projects. It was the second general building shutdown here in five months.

The pickets, members of Sheet Metal Workers Local 51, paraded outside the gates of the atomic plants area in support of demands for seven cents a mile travel pay from their homes to the project sites and return. A union spokesman said the pickets were "unauthorized" but declined further comment.

With 700 sheet metal workers on strike, the total number idle on the two projects is 7,200.

Last November, construction work by about 6,500 AFL craftsmen was halted for three weeks when the 700 metal workers posted pickets over the same issue.

Controls Blamed

Spokane, Wash., March 31 (AP)—The twisted remains of a big B36 bomber were scooped up yesterday while the air force blamed loss of "directional controls" for a flaming crash that killed seven men Monday. Three crew members escaped out the pilot's hatch after the 10-engine plane skidded to a stop and burst into flames at Fairchild Air Force Base. All were painfully burned. Maj. Virgil L. Westling, the pilot from Marquette, Kansas, told investigators: "We were taking off when I felt the aircraft swerve to the right. I thought we were airborne. The wheels hit something and we struck the ground. All I remember is that we rolled around in the cabin."

Crash Remains Probed

Ft. Bragg, N. C., March 31 (AP)—Air force and army officials today probed the smoldering remains of a C119 Flying Boxcar which crashed yesterday into a mess hall, killing seven and injuring 10. With one engine blazing, the ship went out of control shortly after taking off from nearby Pope Air Force Base, hit a bachelor officers quarters, careened crazily across a parade ground and ripped into a mess hall. The plane and the mess hall burst into flames fed by the plane's gasoline.

Teacher Is Suspended

New York, March 31 (AP)—Another New York city school teacher was suspended today on charges of pro-Communist associations. School Superintendent William Jansen took the action against Paul Saligman, 32, a teacher at Public School No. 42 in the Bronx. He was accused of "conduct unbecoming a teacher" by falsely denying in an interview, and in his employment application, that he had belonged to a group endorsing the Communist party.

Farewell for General

Frankfurt, Germany, March 31 (AP)—The U. S. Army hauled out two of its atomic guns in a farewell review for retiring Gen. Thomas T. Handy, deputy commander of the European command. It was the first time the big guns, which can toss shells about 11 inches in diameter more than 20 miles, have been publicly displayed in Europe. A private showing was held for accredited correspondents shortly after the weapons arrived last October, but they have been under wraps since.

Mental Exam Ordered

New York, March 31 (AP)—A mental examination was ordered today for 15-year-old Theresa Gresh who is charged with helping her teen-age lover murder Theresa's mother. A court-appointed lawyer said the girl is unable to give a coherent story and added "I have very serious doubts that she is in a condition to stand trial."

Chews Are Measured

Chicago (AP)—A new dental device is described in the Science Digest by Dr. Harry Kazis of Boston. It is called a pantographic mandibular recorder and makes a measurement of a patient's chewing motions during his visit to the dentist for a denture fitting. Precise fitting adjustments are made after the patient leaves.

Annoyed by signs on many ancient Connecticut houses proclaiming "Washington slept here," one citizen posted a sign: "Washington Would Have Stopped Here If He Had Come This Way."

Alleged Gambler

Chief George P. Leadbitter "couple of hundred dollars," for protection on several occasions. The money, he said, was paid on street corners during 1946 and 1947. In earlier testimony he had said he paid to the detective on trial $100 a week for three or four years. The Associated Press quoted him as saying yesterday it was $100 a month.

The alleged former gambler also said he had paid off former Detective William J. Owens, first at the rate of $10 a week and later at $65 a week.

Asked for Help

Tyrrell also testified that Mrs. Alexander G. Cummins, an Episcopal rector's widow and one-time Poughkeepsie police commissioner, called him to her home and asked for a contribution to the club, saying it was in financial difficulty.

Mrs. Cummins, who was a private citizen at the time involved, later served as police commissioner in 1951 and 1952. Doran was mayor at the time involved.

Tyrell said Doran gave him stock in the baseball club worth $1,200 and when a new owner, Phil O'Hara, took over the club, O'Hara bought back Tyrrell's stock for the same figure.

This, said Tyrrell, was "one of the major miracles of my life."

Cites Political Gift

Defense Attorney Nathaniel Rubin asked Tyrrell in cross-examination if he ever had contributed to a political party."

"Yes—$300," Tyrrell replied.

Rubin asked Tyrrell to whom and to what party he had made the contribution, but an objection by Dist. Atty. Raymond C. Baratta, upheld by the judge, prevented an answer.

Baratta, Doran and Mrs. Cummins are Republicans.

Rubin, who lost a motion for a mistrial, contended that testimony about protection money and other matters was remote from the perjury charges against Brophy. Rubin also argued that this testimony involved matters outlawed by the statute of limitations.

Charles Lamaris, 66, a convicted gambler, testified that beginning in February, 1946, he paid Brophy $25 a week for protection of a gambling house.

"It will be hard to accomplish our mission unless we crush evil movements that beset us now. We can hardly expect to attain international leadership unless we can agree among ourselves."

Judge Rejects Appeal

White Plains, March 31 (AP)—A county judge today rejected an appeal of three men sentenced to the electric chair for the Readers Digest holdup murder four years ago. Judge John P. Donohoe said they had produced no proof that they did not have a fair trial. The case now goes to the Court of Appeals in Albany. There was no evidence, Donohue said, that a Westchester Parkway policeman, who sat in a spectators seat near the defendants' box in the 1950 trial overheard or reported conversations of the defendants and their lawyers.

Pickets Halt Work At Atomic Plants

Oak Ridge, Tenn., March 31 (AP)—Approximately 6,500 AFL construction workers honored picket lines today, halting work on two vast atomic plant projects. It was the second general building shutdown here in five months.

The pickets, members of Sheet Metal Workers Local 51, paraded outside the gates of the atomic plants area in support of demands for seven cents a mile travel pay from their homes to the project sites and return. A union spokesman said the pickets were "unauthorized" but declined further comment.

With 700 sheet metal workers on strike, the total number idle on the two projects is 7,200.

Last November, construction work by about 6,500 AFL craftsmen was halted for three weeks when the 700 metal workers posted pickets over the same issue.

Controls Blamed

Spokane, Wash., March 31 (AP)—The twisted remains of a big B36 bomber were scooped up yesterday while the air force blamed loss of "directional controls" for a flaming crash that killed seven men Monday. Three crew members escaped out the pilot's hatch after the 10-engine plane skidded to a stop and burst into flames at Fairchild Air Force Base. All were painfully burned. Maj. Virgil L. Westling, the pilot from Marquette, Kansas, told investigators: "We were taking off when I felt the aircraft swerve to the right. I thought we were airborne. The wheels hit something and we struck the ground. All I remember is that we rolled around in the cabin."

Alleged Gambler

Chief George P. Leadbitter "couple of hundred dollars," for protection on several occasions. The money, he said, was paid on street corners during 1946 and 1947. In earlier testimony he had said he paid to the detective on trial $100 a week for three or four years. The Associated Press quoted him as saying yesterday it was $100 a month.

The alleged former gambler also said he had paid off former Detective William J. Owens, first at the rate of $10 a week and later at $65 a week.

Asked for Help

Tyrrell aso testified that Mrs. Alexander G. Cummins, an Episcopal rector's widow and one-time Poughkeepsie police commissioner, called him to her home and asked for a contribution to the club, saying it was in financial difficulty.

Mrs. Cummins, who was a private citizen at the time involved, later served as police commissioner in 1951 and 1952. Doran was mayor at the time involved.

Tyrell said Doran gave him stock in the baseball club worth $1,200 and when a new owner, Phil O'Hara, took over the club, O'Hara bought back Tyrrell's stock for the same figure.

This, said Tyrrell, was "one of the major miracles of my life."

Cites Political Gift

Defense Attorney Nathaniel Rubin asked Tyrrell in cross-examination if he ever had contributed to a political party."

"Yes—$300," Tyrrell replied.

Rubin asked Tyrrell to whom and to what party he had made the contribution, but an objection by Dist. Atty. Raymond C. Baratta, upheld by the judge, prevented an answer.

Baratta, Doran and Mrs. Cummins are Republicans.

Rubin, who lost a motion for a mistrial, contended that testimony about protection money and other matters was remote from the perjury charges against Brophy. Rubin also argued that this testimony involved matters outlawed by the statute of limitations.

Charles Lamaris, 66, a convicted gambler, testified that beginning in February, 1946, he paid Brophy $25 a week for protection of a gambling house.

Judge Rejects Appeal

White Plains, March 31 (AP)—A county judge today rejected an appeal of three men sentenced to the electric chair for the Readers Digest holdup murder four years ago. Judge John P. Donohoe said they had produced no proof that they did not have a fair trial. The case now goes to the Court of Appeals in Albany. There was no evidence, Donohue said, that a Westchester Parkway policeman, who sat in a spectators seat near the defendants' box in the 1950 trial overheard or reported conversations of the defendants and their lawyers.

Correct Movie Title

13,000 Visit Show

At Tuesday's Lions Club meeting, Lawrence M. Jenson, general chairman, reported the 1954 Kingston Area on Parade industrial and mercantile exposition and automobile show held last week at the state armory was the largest in its history, with a total attendance of 13,000 in the five nights. Biggest single night attendance was 3,100 on Friday, with Saturday night next with 2,800 paid admissions.

Indications are that next year's exposition will again be a sell-out as far as commercial booths are concerned, Jenson reported, with many exhibitors already having signed up for space in 1955.

Stresses Road Safety

Speaker at this week's meeting was F. Clifford White, executive deputy commissioner of the New York State Bureau of Motor Vehicles, who reported on the increase of automobile registrations and operators licenses issued in the state over the years and stressed the need for highway safety.

Former Judge Is K of C Breakfast Speaker on Sunday

Former Judge John A. McKenna, who at one time served as referee in the New York State Department of Labor, will be the principal speaker for the annual communion breakfast of Kingston Council, 275, Knights of Columbus on Sunday.

The entire membership of the K of C has been requested to attend the 8 a. m. Mass at St Mary's Church on Passion Sunday. Immediately following the Mass, breakfast will be served in the council home.

Judge McKenna, who is a member of Haverstraw Council, was named to the labor post by the late Gov. Alfred E. Smith in 1922. He was elected judge in the town of Orange, Rockland county in 1933, and was elected county judge and judge of the Children's Court for Rockland county in 1934.

The former magistrate was born in New York and is a graduate of Georgetown University, Washington, D. C.

Edward Hofbauer, K of C ticket chairman, has announced that no tickets will be sold for Sunday's breakfast after 6 p. m. on Friday. Tickets may be obtained by calling Hofbauer or at the K of C Home.

Tracks Expected

the pari-mutuel bite, admission fees, transportation, programs, scratch sheets, parking, food and drink.

For every dollar wagered at tracks licensed to conduct pari-mutuel betting, 16 per cent is deducted and divided among the state, localities and the tracks. The state gets the lion's share. Fifteen per cent is the fixed "bite." But there is breakage (the odd pennies earned by winners but not given to them) which amounts to 1 per cent.

In the 14 years of legalized betting at tracks in this state, the state has collected a total of $376,858,251.83, broken down as follows: $360,986,016.66 in taxes on betting, $13,503,357.12 in taxes on admissions, and $2,368,878.05 in revenue from uncashed pari-mutuel tickets.

Betting revenue from flat tracks has accounted for $282,099,578.30 and from harness tracks $78,886,438.

In 1940, the year of pari-mutuel law went into effect, the state's take from betting at flat tracks was $5,698,390.09. Last year it hit a record high of $48,653,353.34.

The rapid rise in the popularity of harness racing, a night sport in New York state, has accounted for the tremendous increase in the state's income from racing.

In 1940, the state obtained $92,370.79 from harness track wagering. Last year it was $17,504,279.94. This year, because of an increase in the state's share of the betting, the yield will be estimated $6,200,000 greater.

The thoroughbred track season begins, perhaps appropriately, on April Fool's Day. The harness racing season opens April 2. Both seasons will end in mid-November, at which time the state will be richer and the horse players—most of them at least poorer.

Chair Not Sedentary

Register for Lenten Services

Members of Trinity Methodist Church are registering their attendance at church during the Sundays in Lent. A large board filled with cards bearing the name of each member of the church has been installed near the entrance to the sanctuary. As persons come in, they pick their names from the board and place it in a box. Here Frank W. Thompson, Miss Eileen Rider, Henry Terpening, and Mrs. Frank W. Thompson pick out their cards. A weekly check is taken not only of total attendance, but of the number of members present. (Artcraft photo)

nounced that their home appliances would be reduced by the amount of the tax reduction and the Philco Corp. and the Crosley and Bendix division of Avco Manufacturing Corp. indicated they would follow suit. So did other makers of home laundry machines.

Jewelry and fur dealers already had said they would be glad to give the tax savings to their customers.

No Break on Movies

Only in the case of the movies did it appear that the consumer would not get the full benefit. Many theatre owners have said they face bankruptcy under competition from television in the home. But trade sources said recently some movie houses would cut their prices by the amount of the tax cut.

The measure also saves $1,077,000,000 in revenue by extending for another year increases in major excises voted in 1951 after the Korean war started. These involve autos, trucks, gasoline, cigarettes, liquor, wine and beer.

The administration asked for the extensions and figured on this revenue in its budget for fiscal 1955 starting this July 1. Even so, this budget carried a $2,900,000,000 estimated deficit.

Opposed Tax Cuts

But the President did not ask for any excise tax cuts this year. And Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey has consistently opposed them.

The political cross-fire broke out in Congress before the bill even was sent to the White House.

Democrats declared yesterday that the administration would not help them last week when they sought to broaden the cuts but now was claiming credit for the bill as a principal means of halting the business downturn.

There seemed little doubt that the Republicans planned to use the excise tax cuts in campaigning next fall. Secretary of Commerce Weeks has hailed them as the step which "will provide the stimulus business needs."

Byrd Gives Views

Sen. Byrd (D.-Va.) voted against the bill yesterday and said the cuts were putting the nation on the "road to financial suicide."

No political party, he said, could claim any honor out of voting a tax cut with borrowed money. That is what this reduction amounts to, Byrd said, since the federal budget is unbalanced in the current year and the President has predicted a deficit next year.

The biggest item of relief in the bill goes to telephone users. The cut on local and long distance service amounts to about 325 million dollars yearly.

Other big cuts included were: Tickets to movies, professional baseball games and other amusements, about 190 million; jewelry, 100 million; trains-plane-bus passenger fares, 95 million; household appliances, 85 million; cosmetics, 55 million.

Douglas Would

sively accepted but should be met by united action."

Dulles gave no hint of what form such action might take, and informed officials said it may hinge largely on responses of the British, French and other governments.

In past, France has held to the view that the anti-Red war is primarily a civil one not calling, for example, for action by the United Nations. She has, however, accepted vast U. S. aid and asked for more.

It seems certain that a specific American objective is the development of a solid front among the allied powers in the forth-coming Asian peace negotiations at Geneva.

In the Geneva conference, opening April 26, Russian and Chinese Reds are expected to try to maneuver war-weary France into Indo-Chinese peace settlement which might mean eventual surrender of Indochina to Communist domination.

In his prepared speech, Sen. Douglas proposed that the President act immediately to "enlist the support and cooperation of Australia, New Zealand, Indonesia, Japan, the Philippines and other Far East Nations in resisting aggression."

Record Broken Twice

New York, March 31 (AP)—The Los Angeles-New York speed record for commercial flights has been broken twice within 24 hours by American Airlines. A DC7 made the flight yesterday in 5 hours, 51 minutes. The flight cut 19 minutes from the record of a DC7 on Monday, which was recognized by the National Aeronautical Assn. as a commercial record. The old record was 6 hours 17 minutes, set by an Eastern Air Lines plane in February, 1949. The trip is listed at 2,439 miles. Fifty-four passengers and a crew of five were on the flight yesterday.

Ulster Hose Is Area Distributor Of Fire Sentinel

Ulster Hose Company, No. 5, town of Ulster, has been appointed distributor for the Hudson Valley for "Firealarm," a thermostatically controlled sentinel which automatically sounds an alarm when temperature in a room reaches a point of danger in the event of a fire.

This automatic device is plugged in an electric socket and when temperature reaches 120 degrees an alarm is sounded. The device is recommended for homes, hotels, boarding houses, stores or in attics or near furnaces where fire is apt to originate. Since the first four minutes after a fire starts, is considered the critical period, this device will give early warning and permit quick detection of the fire. Fire Chief William Norton of the Ulster Hose Company, No. 5, recommends the device as an instrument of great assistance to fire departments since it is on duty 24 hours a day protecting property. The device was displayed at the Lions Kingston Area on Parade exposition where a considerable number of orders were taken. Proceeds from the sale of the device will be used for the building fund of Ulster Hose Company.

National Fire Protective Association, Chief Norton said, says every 48 minutes of the year a man, woman or child dies in a fire. Early detection of a blaze could save many of these lives.

His topic will be, "Equal to the Challenge."

Central College Choir Will Present Concert At Wallkill Church

The A Cappella Choir of Central College, Pella Ia., will sing at the New Hurley Reformed Church, Wallkill, at 8 p. m., Wednesday, April 14.

Central College of Pella, a four-year liberal arts school under the auspices of the Reformed Church in America, has had an A Cappella since 1933. In its annual spring tour the choir attempts to bring to the churches some of the finest sacred music, covering the entire church year in song and scripture.

Composed of 40 voices, the choir draws its membership from all branches of the student body. Music is popular at Central, and music majors are actually in the minority in the choir: the majority of the personnel is made up of future teachers, pre-ministerial students, and future professional men and women. Choir members are also leaders in camps activities, scholastics, dramatics, forensics, athletics, and organizational programs.

Directed by Laurence Grooters, a graduate of the University of Redlands, Cal., and of the School of Sacred Music of Union Theological Seminary in New York, the choir has as guest soloist this year Mrs. Edith Le Cocq, a member of the Central College music faculty. She is well-known in Iowa for her work at the State University and her individual engagements all over the state.

During the past two years under the guidance of Mr. Grooters the choir has toured Iowa, South Dakota, Minnesota, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan. This year's 17-day tour extends through Illinois, Michigan, Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey.

Boris Godunov, Best Known Work Of M. Moussorgsky

Moussorgsky was one of the Ketcha, Mighty Five, who created the Russian School of Music in the 19th century, according to Mrs. Robert H. Pixley in a report before the Music Appreciation Group of the Women's Club of the YWCA.

Modest Moussorgsky is best known for his work, the opera, Boris Godunov. Khovanschina, the next best known opera, is also based upon actual scenes from Russian history, and is often spoken of as a musical folk drama. Pictures from an Exhibition was written as a tribute to the memory of an artist friend, and is descriptive of a group of his pictures. This work had a definite influence on 20th century music.

He composed approximately 60 songs. His was one of the great discoveries of tonal art, since he often began in one key and ended in another, ended songs without cadence, yet was always justified by text. He died in poverty, a prey to alcohol and disease, in St. Petersburg.

Recordings of his works played included: A Night on Bald Mountain; Prelude to Khovanschina; first scene of fourth act of Boris Godunov; Song of a Flea; and Behind Four Walls.

A social hour followed the program, with hostesses Mrs. Hans Decker and Miss Jane Austin. Miss Florence Cordts presided at the tea table.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Pixley, Roosevelt avenue, Thursday. Miss Florence Cubberly will be co-hostess. Mrs. G. W. Ross will present the program, the last in a series on Spanish composers, on Granados.

DINING IN THE KITCHEN

A reader asks this question: "When having guests in to dinner—just another couple—can it be considered discourteous to them to set the table in the kitchen? Our dining room is not convenient to the kitchen, and it is so much easier to serve dinner out there. Of course, when we have more than two people in we have to eat in the dining room as the kitchen is not large enough.

It depends entirely upon your kitchen. If it is a pleasant and attractive room and the guests are intimate friends who dine with you time and again, the kitchen can be very appealing. But if your guests are only acquaintances, dinner should be eaten in the dining room.

Checking Out of Hotel

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me what the correct procedure is for checking out of hotel. All the advice I have seen is on checking in. I will be staying at a large hotel soon (a new experience for me) and I want to be sure to do the right thing.

Answer: You go to the cashier's desk (or telephone from your room), give the hour of your departure and ask to have your bill made ready. Then you finish packing and ring for a bellboy to carry any heavy pieces of luggage. If you have only a small handbag, you may carry it yourself. You then go to the desk, and ask for your bill, pay it and leave the key.

Thank-You Note Stationery

Dear Mrs. Post: I was thinking of having some "informals" (Fold-over cards) printed on which to acknowledge my wedding presents. Will you please tell me if these are proper? I would very much like your opinion before ordering them.

Answer: Since you are going to order them, I don't see why you don't order small note paper instead, marked with your initials at the top, which would be in very much better taste.

Is it permissible to cut a leafy salad with a knife? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Her leaflet E-19, "Table Rules of Importance," will help you. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

OFFICE CAT

(Trade Mark Reg.)

By Junius

A local citizen was walking down town one morning when a stranger addressed him.

Stranger—Do you know where the post office is?

Citizen—Yes, (affably, and walked on without further reply. After proceeding for about ten steps he looked back, and inquired in his turn) Why? Did you want to know?

Stranger—No. (with great earnestness, and then, the account having been balanced, the two walked away in opposite directions.)

Tooth Primer

You can tell he is seven,
Or possibly eight,
When his smile has a hole
Like a wide-open gate.

A schoolboy had been studying about the early Colonial days in America, and asked his father to explain something to him which was not covered in his history book.

Son—According to my history there were all sorts of people on the Mayflower, but no mention is made of barbers. If the barbers didn't come over on the Mayflower, how did they get here?

Dad—They came over later on the Clipper ships.

Polka Dot—I fought a tough battle to get into society in Boston, but I finally managed it.

Solid Color—I imagine you had to keep your chin up.

Polka Dot—No, just my nose!

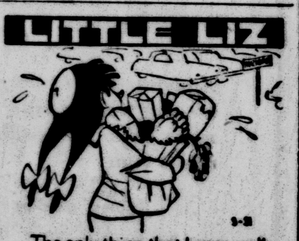

Folks living in Walla Walla, Wash., don't think their city's name is unusual. Just try calling it Walla. Isn't that worse? Besides, inhabitants there say they like the town so well they named it twice.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Town Clerk Will Handle Group Funds

Woodstock, March 31—It was announced at the meeting of the Woodstock Recreation Committee Monday night at the Town Hall, that Mrs. Clayton Harder, town clerk is now a member of the committee. Mrs. Harder will be in charge of the co-ordination of the funds for the recreation field from the state and funds from local donations.

Kenneth Wilson, chairman of the recreation committee, explained that plans have been made to enlarge the present building on the recreation field, adjacent to the swimming pool. However, funds to enlarge the building, might be available from cash contributions to the project. Persons interested in contributing to the project should communicate with Wilson.

May Obtain Fence

A committee was formed to investigate a fence which has been offered for the use of the recreation committee, at $200. The fence would run from the swimming pool, to the rear of the St. Joan of Arc Chapel to the corner of the Riley-Simmons property. The fence is approximately 100 feet long. The committee is as follows: Montcena DeWitt, William West and Freilan Van de Bogart. Included in the fence also is a gate which could be used at the driveway entrance.

The recreation committee is now in the process of interviewing a caretaker for the recreation field for the summer, at a salary of $500.

It was announced that including the $1,000 allotment from the state and the $500 from the school, after the annual meeting in May, and other funds available amounting to $2,000, the total amount this year will be $3,500 for the maintenance of the recreation field.

Discussion also took place on the cleaning of the ditches at the field.

Will Inspect Pool

A lengthy discussion also took place on the plans for cleaning the swimming pool during the summer. It was reported that a representative of the Inertol Company, Inc., of Newark, N. J., will inspect the pool and make certain recommendations concerning the care of the pool.

A leak in the roof of the club house at the rear of the field will be temporarily repaired this spring, but during the summer a new roof will be placed on top of the present existing tar-paper covering.

Frank Antenucci of the committee was appointed to take inventory of play equipment, some of which is now on the playground at the Woodstock School.

However, funds to enlarge the building, might be available from cash contributions to the project. Persons interested in contributing to the project should communicate with Wilson.

May Obtain Fence

A committee was formed to investigate a fence which has been offered for the use of the recreation committee, at $200. The fence would run from the swimming pool, to the rear of the St. Joan of Arc Chapel to the corner of the Riley-Simmons property. The fence is approximately 100 feet long. The committee is as follows: Montcena DeWitt, William West and Freilan Van de Bogart. Included in the fence also is a gate which could be used at the driveway entrance.

Savage Attack Is Started on Fort At Dien Bien Phu

Hanoi, Indochina, March 31 (AP)—Thousands of Communist-led Vietminh soldiers, springing from fox holes and trenches, launched their second massive and savage assault on the besieged French Union fortress of Dien Bien Phu last night.

Resumption of the all-out drive to overwhelm France's northwest Indochina holding came after two weeks of rebel regrouping in the jungled hills following an initial assault in which the Vietminh lost an estimated 12,000 casualties.

Frech Army Headquarters said the new assault followed a violent artillery barrage.

French Confident

The French Union defenders inside their barbed wire ringed bunkers were confident they could drive off the latest assault as they had the initial three days of rebel suicide charges that began March 13.

On Monday, in their first counterattack from the plain, French tanks, artillery, infantry and planes killed 1,400 rebels in a coordinated strike at two villages about two miles from the fortress' western defense line.

Otherwise, in the interim since the last rebel assault, the opposing forces carried on a screaming artillery duel and French pilots in American-supplied planes strafed and bombed the Vietminh positions around the clock.

Troops Mass

The Vietminh have poured in reinforcements. Supplies have been brought in from Red China by coolie pack in feverish preparation for new assaults. They were estimated by the French to have 35,000 to 40,000 troops massed around the mountain-ringed plain of Dien Bien Phu.

The French continued to dig in as furiously within their heavily armed fortress, parachuting in additional troops and materiel from American - furnished planes. American civilian pilots from Hong Kong joined in the airfilt.

Constant shelling from rebel artillery kept most planes from landing at the fortress airfield, even though troops continued to fill in shell holes along the strip as soon as they were made.

Admission Hike Rejected

New York, March 31 (AP)—George P. Monaghan, New York state harness racing commissioner, yesterday turned down a request from officials of Roosevelt and Yonkers Raceway for permission to raise the price of general admission from $1.50 to $2.

Armed Men Capture Firm's $7,500 Payroll

New York, March 31 (AP)—Two armed men jumped into a truck that had halted at a Brooklyn traffic light yesterday and robbed the two occupants of a $7,500 payroll.

The occupants, William Mignoli, 40, of 67 Eddy street, Roosevelt, and Joseph T. McCable, 29, of 41-66 77th street, Jackson Heights, are officials of the Victory Electrical Corp. of Brooklyn.

They had obtained the firm's payroll at a Bay Ridge branch of the Lafayette National Bank and had driven about a block before halting at the red light.

One of the gunmen took the wheel, drove about another block, and ordered Mignoli and McCabe to get out. Police later found the truck abandoned about a half mile away.

Savage Attack Is Started on Fort At Dien Bien Phu

Hanoi, Indochina, March 31 (AP)—Thousands of Communist-led Vietminh soldiers, springing from fox holes and trenches, launched their second massive and savage assault on the besieged French Union fortress of Dien Bien Phu last night.

Resumption of the all-out drive to overwhelm France's northwest Indochina holding came after two weeks of rebel regrouping in the jungled hills following an initial assault in which the Vietminh lost an estimated 12,000 casualties.

Frech Army Headquarters said the new assault followed a violent artillery barrage.

French Confident

The French Union defenders inside their barbed wire ringed bunkers were confident they could drive off the latest assault as they had the initial three days of rebel suicide charges that began March 13.

On Monday, in their first counterattack from the plain, French tanks, artillery, infantry and planes killed 1,400 rebels in a coordinated strike at two villages about two miles from the fortress' western defense line.

Otherwise, in the interim since the last rebel assault, the opposing forces carried on a screaming artillery duel and French pilots in American-supplied planes strafed and bombed the Vietminh positions around the clock.

Troops Mass

The Vietminh have poured in reinforcements. Supplies have been brought in from Red China by coolie pack in feverish preparation for new assaults. They were estimated by the French to have 35,000 to 40,000 troops massed around the mountain-ringed plain of Dien Bien Phu.

The French continued to dig in as furiously within their heavily armed fortress, parachuting in additional troops and materiel from American - furnished planes. American civilian pilots from Hong Kong joined in the airfilt.

Constant shelling from rebel artillery kept most planes from landing at the fortress airfield, even though troops continued to fill in shell holes along the strip as soon as they were made.

Admission Hike Rejected

Armed Men Capture Firm's $7,500 Payroll

New York, March 31 (AP)—Two armed men jumped into a truck that had halted at a Brooklyn traffic light yesterday and robbed the two occupants of a $7,500 payroll.

The occupants, William Mignoli, 40, of 67 Eddy street, Roosevelt, and Joseph T. McCable, 29, of 41-66 77th street, Jackson Heights, are officials of the Victory Electrical Corp. of Brooklyn.

They had obtained the firm's payroll at a Bay Ridge branch of the Lafayette National Bank and had driven about a block before halting at the red light.

One of the gunmen took the wheel, drove about another block, and ordered Mignoli and McCabe to get out. Police later found the truck abandoned about a half mile away.

End Seen Near

was the possibility that the ILA leaders, by calling off the strike now, might stave off further federal or state action against them.

Secretary of Labor Thomas P. Mitchell, representing President Eisenhower, conferred here Saturday with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to map strategy for federal-state action against the strike leaders.

A federal court already has issued a restraining order against the strike, and the National Labor Relations Board has sought to have the strike leaders cited for contempt on the ground they ignored the order.

The tugs returned to work yesterday after the National Labor Relations Board got a federal court order directing the ILA to stop picketing tugboats and to see that their ILA crews went back to work.

The court ruled the tug stoppage violated a Taft-Hartley law ban against secondary boycotts.

Spreads to Warehouses

The pier strike spread to dockside warehouses yesterday when the ILA posted pickets outside the buildings. However only about half the port's warehouses were picketed, and operators of those struck were expected to apply for a court order that would quickly end the walkout. They would base their request on the same grounds used in the case of the tugboats.

Brooklyn warehousemen, who started the walkout yesterday, returned to their jobs today, however, thereby easing that situation.

A back-to-work movement, mostly by non-striking AFL men, continued yesterday as the New York-New Jersey Waterfront Commission reported 4,142 men were on the job, 227 more than the day before. However this was still less than a quarter of the number normally employed on piers of the nation's busiest port.

There were reports that the ILA was considering calling off the strike and issuing orders for its members to return to their jobs. Newspapers said the reports stemmed from the scheduling of an ILA wage scale committee meeting for tomorrow.

The committee will consider an employer offer of a 10 cent an hour wage increase package retroactive to Oct. 1, the papers said. Reports that a settlement was brewing were denied by ILA President William V. Bradley. The basic wage now is $2.27 an hour.

Meanwhile the NLRB pressed its federal court charges of contempt against the union, which walked out in defiance of a no-strike injunction issued by the court on March 4.

By the end of its second day, trial of the contempt charges progressed yesterday as far as selection of a jury of seven women and five men. Two alternate jurors remained to be chosen. The NLRB is asking fines of at least $100,000 against the union and prison terms for three officers of union locals.

Suicide Try Fails

West Los Angeles, March 31 (AP)—Actress Corinne Calvet was found unconscious on the bathroom floor of her home early today, police reported. Detectives said she had taken an overdose of sedatives. Officers T. B. Ley and E. R. St. John, who listed the case as an attempted suicide, called an ambulance immediately. She was taken to a Santa Monica hospital and her stomach pumped out. After she revived, she was sent home.

City, County Chairmen Appointed for Cancer Fund Drive

At a meeting held Tuesday night at the City Laboratory, the following were named to head the cancer fund drive in Kingston: Mrs. C. Henninger, Eighth ward; Mrs. Karl E. Lefren, Third ward; Mrs. Saul Goldfarb, 12th ward; Mrs. Harold Conlin, Fourth ward; and Miss Philomena Gehringer, Eighth ward. Hugh Elwyn is city chairman for the drive. (Freeman photo)

County leaders for the current drive also were appointed at last night's meeting of the Ulster County Branch, American Cancer Society. These are: Mrs. William Yesse, Sr., and Mrs. A. J. Freeman, town of Esopus; Mrs. Harry Dordick, town of Woodstock; Mrs. B. G. Davin, town of Lloyd; Mrs. Lillian Courter, town of Plattekill; Joseph Carcaramo, town of Kingston; and Mrs. Rudolph Soltys, town of Ulster. (Freeman photo)

Dairymen, Economists Feel . . .

and Aiken (R-Vt.) introduced a measure that Aiken said "would assure dairy producers about 80 per cent of parity."

There was no plan to wipe out entirely the cut Benson had ordered, and Aiken said he had not completed plans for handling his new proposal. It could be considered as part of a general farm bill now under study in both branches of Congress.

Although worried dairymen can draw some hope from the senators' proposal, they still are faced with Benson's order.

That order, some say, will ruin dairymen, force them to cut herds drastically.

The State Agriculture Department says there are about 57,000 dairy farms in New York state, worked mostly by owners and their families. These farms, the department says, have about 1½ million producing cows and heifers.

During 1953, according to departmental statistics, the dairy farmers produced about 8,464,000,000 pounds of milk and cream, the industry's best year. The farmers received about $4.31 per hundredweight (about 47 quarts) for their product, a total of about 360 million dollars.

Dr. Leland Spencer, professor of marketing at Cornell University says the farmers probably will lose about 20 cents a hundredweight as a result of the price support cut—or about 20 million dollars in a year's time if production continues at the same level.

But, Spencer adds, the farmer is more concerned over his net income than his gross income. "He can overcome this deficiency and still make a good profit through better production methods," the professor said. Spencer said also that he expected distributors would absorb some of the price cut.

A 14-county upstate milk producers organization has said the result of the order would be a "drastic depletion" of dairy herds. Farmers, they said, would have to sell off some of their best cattle for beef in order to make up the loss.

The order will not change the retail price of bottled milk in New York state. Class 1 fluid milk is not government-supported here. Class 2 and 3 milk go into the manufactured products, which are supported.

Most observers agree that butter will retail for about eight to 12 cents less a pound. Some stores already have cut their prices from the 80-cent to the 70-cent range, and others are expected to follow suit before the month is out.

But can butter compete with oleomargarine, which is selling in some cities for as low as 25 cents a pound? Here again, there is wide disagreement.

Four Die in Pit Blast

Silver City, N. M., March 31 (AP)—Four men died in an early morning explosion in the copper pit of the Santa Rita Mines of Kennecott Copper Corp., today, and one other worker was critically injured. Mine officials said the men were apparently preparing to set off a blast when the accident occurred. Details were lacking. All the dead and injured were residents of Santa Rita or Silver City.

Can Make H-Bomb

this takes in suburban counties just to the city, and parts of Connecticut and northeastern New Jersey.

The population of New York city itself is 7,891,957.

Sees Possibility of Talks

Eisenhower himself said earlier there is some possibility the Russians are getting ready to talk business about a plan for international peacetime use of atomic energy.

He made this statement when asked what significance the government attaches to the recent publication by the Russians of some details of their atomic and H-weapon research.

The President said he didn't know—but that many discussions have been held and the result is inconclusive.

There are some, he went on, apparently meaning some of his advisers, who think this indicates a change in Soviet policy and a disposition to negotiate earnestly and honestly.

Bows to Demands

London, March 31 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, bowing to Laborite demands, announced today the House of Commons will open a full debate on hydrogen bomb problems next Monday. The 79-year old prime minister told Commons he will speak himself on Britain's position and policy. It will be his second declaration on the subject in less than a week. He said yesterday American experiments in the Pacific were essential to defense of the free world and spurned demands that he use his influence to have them called off.

An early Hindu law code made a person deaf from birth incapable of inheriting property.

Hopes to Marry Aly

Rosarito Beach, Baja California, Mexico, March 31 (AP)—Gene Tierney, here for a week's respite from her movie labors, says she hopes to marry Aly Khan within six months, in France. Said Aly, "I never discuss personal affairs."

In any event, Miss Tierney has switched from the "friendship finger" to the engagement finger the big diamond ring Aly gave her some time ago. She said he proposed 18 months ago, "somewhere in Europe. "I knew I loved him a month after we met," said the actress, "but he loved me before that time."

was the possibility that the ILA leaders, by calling off the strike now, might stave off further federal or state action against them.

Secretary of Labor Thomas P. Mitchell, representing President Eisenhower, conferred here Saturday with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to map strategy for federal-state action against the strike leaders.

A federal court already has issued a restraining order against the strike, and the National Labor Relations Board has sought to have the strike leaders cited for contempt on the ground they ignored the order.

The tugs returned to work yesterday after the National Labor Relations Board got a federal court order directing the ILA to stop picketing tugboats and to see that their ILA crews went back to work.

The court ruled the tug stoppage violated a Taft-Hartley law ban against secondary boycotts.

Spreads to Warehouses

The pier strike spread to dockside warehouses yesterday when the ILA posted pickets outside the buildings. However only about half the port's warehouses were picketed, and operators of those struck were expected to apply for a court order that would quickly end the walkout. They would base their request on the same grounds used in the case of the tugboats.

Brooklyn warehousemen, who started the walkout yesterday, returned to their jobs today, however, thereby easing that situation.

A back-to-work movement, mostly by non-striking AFL men, continued yesterday as the New York-New Jersey Waterfront Commission reported 4,142 men were on the job, 227 more than the day before. However this was still less than a quarter of the number normally employed on piers of the nation's busiest port.

There were reports that the ILA was considering calling off the strike and issuing orders for its members to return to their jobs. Newspapers said the reports stemmed from the scheduling of an ILA wage scale committee meeting for tomorrow.

The committee will consider an employer offer of a 10 cent an hour wage increase package retroactive to Oct. 1, the papers said. Reports that a settlement was brewing were denied by ILA President William V. Bradley. The basic wage now is $2.27 an hour.

Meanwhile the NLRB pressed its federal court charges of contempt against the union, which walked out in defiance of a no-strike injunction issued by the court on March 4.

By the end of its second day, trial of the contempt charges progressed yesterday as far as selection of a jury of seven women and five men. Two alternate jurors remained to be chosen. The NLRB is asking fines of at least $100,000 against the union and prison terms for three officers of union locals.

Suicide Try Fails

West Los Angeles, March 31 (AP)—Actress Corinne Calvet was found unconscious on the bathroom floor of her home early today, police reported. Detectives said she had taken an overdose of sedatives. Officers T. B. Ley and E. R. St. John, who listed the case as an attempted suicide, called an ambulance immediately. She was taken to a Santa Monica hospital and her stomach pumped out. After she revived, she was sent home.

Dairymen, Economists Feel . . .

and Aiken (R-Vt.) introduced a measure that Aiken said "would assure dairy producers about 80 per cent of parity."

There was no plan to wipe out entirely the cut Benson had ordered, and Aiken said he had not completed plans for handling his new proposal. It could be considered as part of a general farm bill now under study in both branches of Congress.

Although worried dairymen can draw some hope from the senators' proposal, they still are faced with Benson's order.

That order, some say, will ruin dairymen, force them to cut herds drastically.

The State Agriculture Department says there are about 57,000 dairy farms in New York state, worked mostly by owners and their families. These farms, the department says, have about 1½ million producing cows and heifers.

During 1953, according to departmental statistics, the dairy farmers produced about 8,464,000,000 pounds of milk and cream, the industry's best year. The farmers received about $4.31 per hundredweight (about 47 quarts) for their product, a total of about 360 million dollars.

Dr. Leland Spencer, professor of marketing at Cornell University says the farmers probably will lose about 20 cents a hundredweight as a result of the price support cut—or about 20 million dollars in a year's time if production continues at the same level.

But, Spencer adds, the farmer is more concerned over his net income than his gross income. "He can overcome this deficiency and still make a good profit through better production methods," the professor said. Spencer said also that he expected distributors would absorb some of the price cut.

A 14-county upstate milk producers organization has said the result of the order would be a "drastic depletion" of dairy herds. Farmers, they said, would have to sell off some of their best cattle for beef in order to make up the loss.

The order will not change the retail price of bottled milk in New York state. Class 1 fluid milk is not government-supported here. Class 2 and 3 milk go into the manufactured products, which are supported.

Most observers agree that butter will retail for about eight to 12 cents less a pound. Some stores already have cut their prices from the 80-cent to the 70-cent range, and others are expected to follow suit before the month is out.

But can butter compete with oleomargarine, which is selling in some cities for as low as 25 cents a pound? Here again, there is wide disagreement.

Four Die in Pit Blast

Silver City, N. M., March 31 (AP)—Four men died in an early morning explosion in the copper pit of the Santa Rita Mines of Kennecott Copper Corp., today, and one other worker was critically injured. Mine officials said the men were apparently preparing to set off a blast when the accident occurred. Details were lacking. All the dead and injured were residents of Santa Rita or Silver City.

The Federal Bureau of Census, which puts slightly different boundaries on the metropolitan area, limits it to 3,925 square miles of land, with 12,911,994 people.

The population of New York city itself is 7,891,957.

Sees Possibility of Talks

Eisenhower himself said earlier there is some possibility the Russians are getting ready to talk business about a plan for international peacetime use of atomic energy.

He made this statement when asked what significance the government attaches to the recent publication by the Russians of some details of their atomic and H-weapon research.

The President said he didn't know—but that many discussions have been held and the result is inconclusive.

There are some, he went on, apparently meaning some of his advisers, who think this indicates a change in Soviet policy and a disposition to negotiate earnestly and honestly.

Bows to Demands

London, March 31 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, bowing to Laborite demands, announced today the House of Commons will open a full debate on hydrogen bomb problems next Monday. The 79-year old prime minister told Commons he will speak himself on Britain's position and policy. It will be his second declaration on the subject in less than a week. He said yesterday American experiments in the Pacific were essential to defense of the free world and spurned demands that he use his influence to have them called off.

Hopes to Marry Aly

Rosarito Beach, Baja California, Mexico, March 31 (AP)—Gene Tierney, here for a week's respite from her movie labors, says she hopes to marry Aly Khan within six months, in France. Said Aly, "I never discuss personal affairs." In any event, Miss Tierney has switched from the "friendship finger" to the engagement finger the big diamond ring Aly gave her some time ago. She said he proposed 18 months ago, "somewhere in Europe. "I knew I loved him a month after we met," said the actress, "but he loved me before that time."

Key Games Set For Thursday's Quarter Finals

Sickler-Bombardier Clash Key to Finals

The decks are cleared for quarter final action in the Kingston basketball tournament and the joint will be jumping Thursday night at the municipal auditorium.

Tournament observers believe one of the finalists should emerge from tomorrow night's play.

The big one is the clash between Sickler's Delivery-Siena and the Pine Plains Bombardiers, with Johnny Cottrill and Don Myers. That's scheduled for 8:30.

In the 7:30 opener, the speedy Otisville club with sensational Dick Wilbur takes on Valley Gardens of the YMCA League. Wilbur holds the tournament's individual scoring high of 36 points.

Monticello Wins

The form chart held up in both games last night, with Poughkeepsie McAuleys running up a big first half lead to eliminate Lincoln Park Inn, 72-63, in a bristling battle spiced with rhubarbs and a spree of fisticuffs.

Richie Moran sparked McAuleys' first half drive but bowed out with a sprained ankle early in the third quarter. He still left as Poughkeepsie's higgest scorer with 16 points. Tim Murphy rimmed 14, Tom Murphy 13 and Masten 12.

Playing without Ronnie Scheffel, who has returned to North Carolina State, Lincoln's made their best showing with a 19-9 margin in the third period.

Doyle Hits 20

Big Jack Doyle played a beautiful game for the Lincolns and emerged as top scorer with 20 points. Boyce hit 11 for the losers.

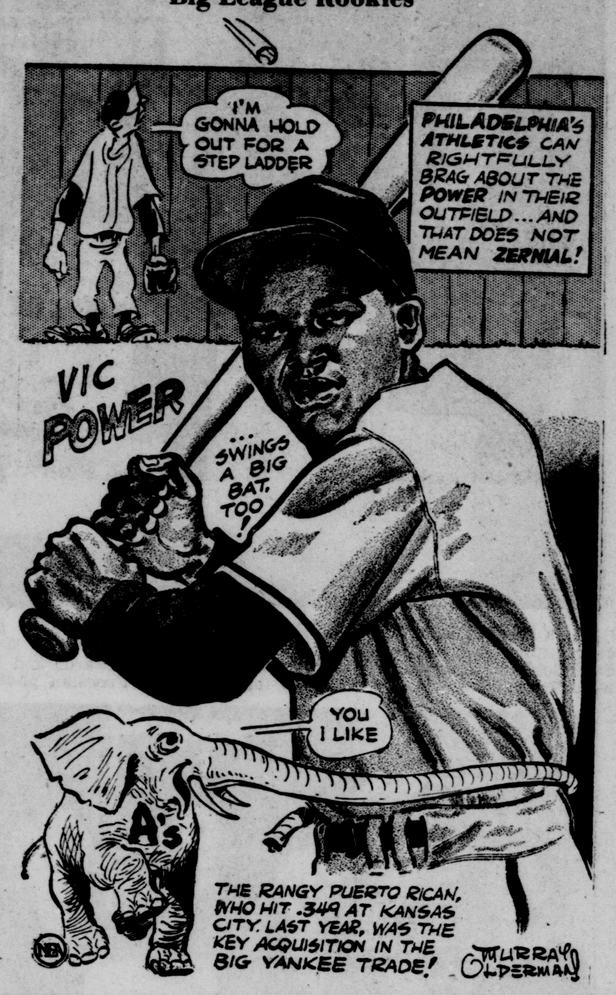

A bevy of former DUSO League stars powered the Monticello Chiefs to an 80-67 triumph over a gallant but undermanned Hudson Knights of Columbus quintet.

The score is deceptive since the Knights were pressing the Chiefs, 61-64, in the latter stages of the contest. Eventually they succumbed to the pressure. It was a 35-35 standoff at halftime.

Marty Schwartz, an All-DUSO performer at Monticello, hooped 25 points for the mountaineers. Bill Baker, fabulous scoring Negro player of Goshen dunked 21.

Leo O'Melanchuck dumped 20 and Miller hit 18 for the Knights.

Jones Dairy's 2728 Net Cops Millerton Sweeps

Jones Dairy's HVBL aspirants couldn't handle the Poughkeepsie Cabs last Saturday in their crucial match at Dutchess Recreation.

But last night on neutral planks at Millerton, in the annual Lions Club sweepstakes it was a different story.

For the second straight year, Johnny Ferraro and company took down the $100 prize for high scratch total of 2728. They crossed alleys with the Cabs, defeating them by 55 pins. Also relieved them of a modest amount of currency.

Charlie Manfro led the Dairy with 214-558. Johnny Ferraro shot 212-555 and Dick Howard 229-548. Jake Charter bombed 570.

Pirates Lead Grapefruit League But Will Be Eighth in National

By ED CORRIGAN
(AP Sports Writer)

What's this?

The Pittsburgh Pirates atop the Grapefruit League standings, hitting home runs all over the place and one of their pitchers tossing a shutout?

The Pirates have been riding along in high gear all spring and their sluggers have been hitting —they already have 30 home runs —but not even the most optimistic Buccaneer would have predicted that 23-year-old Bob Friend would whitewash the powerful Boston Red Sox.

That he did yesterday with the Pirates taking the decision, 3-0. He also became the first of Fred Haney's elbowmen to go nine full innings. A Pirate pitcher shutting out the opposition is not only commendable, it's downright sensational. The Pirate flingers amassed a total of four shutouts all last season.

They, of course, have been consigned to the National League cellar again. Probably, that's where they will wind up. But along the way, Haney and his men will chop some of the big boys down to size. They can hit and it's a matter of the pitchers trying to hold the opposition down.

Friend, who has spent his entire major league career (three years) with the Pirates gave up but three hits and walked only one. He also contributed a pair of singles to the cause.

The Chicago Cubs, with coach Bob Scheffing at the helm, ousted manager Phil Cavarretta in the stands and new pilot Stan Hack on the way, defeated the Baltimore Orioles 3-1. Johnny Klippstein pitched six shutout innings and Hank Sauer and Ernie Banks hit home runs. Joe Coleman went all the way for Baltimore, allowing six hits.

Tribe Beats Giants

The Cleveland Indians turned on the New York Giants and hung a 2-1 defeat on Leo Durocher's men. Old Sal Maglie continued to impress the western camp followers by going five innings and being tapped for only one hit. Marv Grissom was the victim of a two-run Indian rally in the eighth.

If the Philadelphia Phillies can develop some sustained power along the way, they may become dangerous. They nipped the world champion New York Yankees 7-6 with the Yanks main stock in trade—a home run. Del Ennis hit it off rookie Bob Grim to break a 6-6 tie in the fifth inning.

In the only other game between major league teams—most of them are breaking camp in the southland—the Washington Senators turned back the Cincinnati Redlegs when Roy Sievers hit a bases-loaded, two-out, ninth inning home run off Jack Crimian, 6-3.

The Yankees B team club beat St. Petersburg of the Florida International League, 10-4, and the Milwaukee Braves engaged in a brisk workout at the expense of Savannah of the Sally League, 27-0.

TV Battle Up to Stir The NCAA

Kansas City, March 31 (AP)—It's a long time until the football season but the NCAA had a full-sized gridiron squabble on its hands today—over that old bugaboo television.

The NCAA TV committee had no sooner come up with its recommendations for a nationally controlled TV football program next fall than the Big Ten conference balked.

The Big Ten TV committee said its idea of nine regional and three nationwide telecasts of football games was better.

The NCAA plan calls for a national game-of-the-week telecast on 12 successive Saturdays, with regional TV games restricted to Thanksgiving Day.

In addition televising of sellout games would be banned as would panoramic programs in which brief views of several games are wrapped up in a single telecast.

The Big Ten plan also would permit a team to appear twice regionally or once nationally while the NCAA proposal would limit a team to a single appearance whether on a regional or national basis.

The NCAA committee's recommendations will go into effect if approved by two thirds of NCAA members. A mail referendum already is in progress.

There were indications the Big Ten might split with the NCAA if the national program is approved but it also was reported the conference might go along in the final reckoning.

Roseland Rest, Lincoln Inn Tie for Lead

Roseland Rest and Lincoln Park Inn are locked in a tie for first place in the Tavern Shuffleboard League with 58 wins and 42 losses.

The tie was created Monday when Lincoln Park defeated Olive Bridge Grill, 8-2, while Roseland struggled for a 6-4 decision at Pheasant Inn.

With two weeks remaining, the championship probably will be decided on the final night. Both leaders are on the road next week—Lincoln Park Inn at Pheasant Inn and Roseland at Olive Bridge.

League Standing

| | Won | Lost |
|---|---|---|
| Roseland Rest | 58 | 42 |
| Lincoln Park Inn | 58 | 42 |
| Pheasant Inn | 51 | 49 |
| Olive Bridge Grill | 33 | 67 |

Olson, Gavilan Fit and Ready For Big Clash

Chicago, March 31 (AP) — Both Bobo Olson and Kid Gavilan seem satisfied they are as ready as they'll ever be for their big fight — and both are sticking with the techniques that brought them each a championship.

Olson, the middleweight titleholder, ended ring drills for Friday's match with a five-round sparring session yesterday. Gavilan, the welter champ, will go a couple of final rounds today.

It's Olson's 160-pound title that is at stake in the nationally-televised (10 p. m. EST.) 15-rounder at Chicago Stadium.

Olson has reached a fine edge, say camp spokesmen—so fine that Manager Sid Flaherty wants him to take only the lightest of exercises from here on out, to avoid overtraining.

For just about the first time since he became a champion and found making the 147-pound welter limit less than a joy, the Kid has no weight problem — unless it's the seven or eight pounds he will spot Bobo.

The Cuban senor is a sleek 153 and feeling so trim that he delayed a four-round workout for an hour and a half yesterday in favor of a poker game.

Savoie Faces Persley In Tonight's TV Bout

St. Louis, March 31 (AP)—Armand Savoie of Montreal, knocked out in his last fight when he bid for the lightweight championship, goes against Arthur Persley tonight in a scheduled 10 round bout.

Persley, of Red Cross, La., and also knocked out just once, is rated a harder puncher and is ranked No. 8 one step higher in the lightweight standings than the Canadian.

Two judges and the referee each will divide 10 points a round between the fighters under Missouri rules in the televised bout (CBS, 10. p. m., EST).

It will be Savoie's first ring appearance since he fell before Jimmy Carter, then lightweight champion, last November.

Choken Maekawa, Michigan State boxer from Hawaii, is nicknamed "Pineapple."

Key Games Set For Thursday's Quarter Finals

Sickler-Bombardier Clash Key to Finals

The decks are cleared for quarter final action in the Kingston basketball tournament and the joint will be jumping Thursday night at the municipal auditorium.

Tournament observers believe one of the finalists should emerge from tomorrow night's play.

The big one is the clash between Sickler's Delivery-Siena and the Pine Plains Bombardiers, with Johnny Cottrill and Don Myers. That's scheduled for 8:30.

In the 7:30 opener, the speedy Otisville club with sensational Dick Wilbur takes on Valley Gardens of the YMCA League. Wilbur holds the tournament's individual scoring high of 36 points.

Monticello Wins

The form chart held up in both games last night, with Poughkeepsie McAuleys running up a big first half lead to eliminate Lincoln Park Inn, 72-63, in a bristling battle spiced with rhubarbs and a spree of fisticuffs.

Richie Moran sparked McAuleys' first half drive but bowed out with a sprained ankle early in the third quarter. He still left as Poughkeepsie's biggest scorer with 16 points. Tim Murphy rimmed 14, Tom Murphy 13 and Masten 12.

Playing without Ronnie Scheffel, who has returned to North Carolina State, Lincoln's made their best showing with a 19-9 margin in the third period.

Doyle Hits 20

Big Jack Doyle played a beautiful game for the Lincolns and emerged as top scorer with 20 points. Boyce hit 11 for the losers.

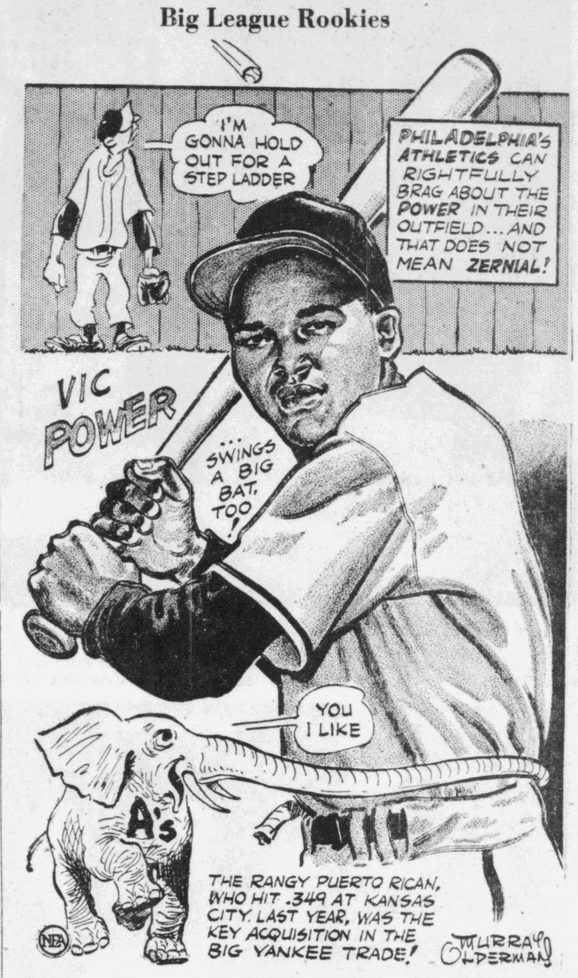

A bevy of former DUSO League stars powered the Monticello Chiefs to an 80-67 triumph over a gallant but undermanned Hudson Knights of Columbus quintet.

The score is deceptive since the Knights were pressing the Chiefs, 61-64, in the latter stages of the contest. Eventually they succumbed to the pressure. It was a 35-35 standoff at halftime.

Marty Schwartz, an All-DUSO performer at Monticello, hooped 25 points for the mountaineers. Bill Baker, fabulous scoring Negro player of Goshen dunked 21.

Leo O'Melanchuck dumped 20 and Miller hit 18 for the Knights.

Jones Dairy's 2728 Net Cops Millerton Sweeps

Jones Dairy's HVBL aspirants couldn't handle the Poughkeepsie Cabs last Saturday in their crucial match at Dutchess Recreation.

But last night on neutral planks at Millerton, in the annual Lions Club sweepstakes it was a different story.

For the second straight year, Johnny Ferraro and company took down the $100 prize for high scratch total of 2728. They crossed alleys with the Cabs, defeating them by 55 pins. Also relieved them of a modest amount of currency.

Charlie Manfro led the Dairy with 214-558. Johnny Ferraro shot 212-555 and Dick Howard 229-548. Jake Charter bombed 570.

The scores:

Pirates Lead Grapefruit League But Will Be Eighth in National

By ED CORRIGAN
(AP Sports Writer)

What's this?

The Pittsburgh Pirates atop the Grapefruit League standings, hitting home runs all over the place and one of their pitchers tossing a shutout?

The Pirates have been riding along in high gear all spring and their sluggers have been hitting —they already have 30 home runs —but not even the most optimistic Buccaneer would have predicted that 23-year-old Bob Friend would whitewash the powerful Boston Red Sox.

That he did yesterday with the Pirates taking the decision, 3-0. He also became the first of Fred Haney's elbowmen to go nine full innings. A Pirate pitcher shutting out the opposition is not only commendable, it's downright sensational. The Pirate flingers amassed a total of four shutouts all last season.

They, of course, have been consigned to the National League cellar again. Probably, that's where they will wind up. But along the way, Haney and his men will chop some of the big boys down to size. They can hit and it's a matter of the pitchers trying to hold the opposition down.

Friend, who has spent his entire major league career (three years) with the Pirates gave up but three hits and walked only one. He also contributed a pair of singles to the cause.

The Chicago Cubs, with coach Bob Scheffing at the helm, ousted manager Phil Cavarretta in the stands and new pilot Stan Hack on the way, defeated the Baltimore Orioles 3-1. Johnny Klippstein pitched six shutout innings and Hank Sauer and Ernie Banks hit home runs. Joe Coleman went all the way for Baltimore, allowing six hits.

Tribe Beats Giants

The Cleveland Indians turned on the New York Giants and hung a 2-1 defeat on Leo Durocher's men. Old Sal Maglie continued to impress the western camp followers by going five innings and being tapped for only one hit. Marv Grissom was the victim of a two-run Indian rally in the eighth.

If the Philadelphia Phillies can develop some sustained power along the way, they may become dangerous. They nipped the world champion New York Yankees 7-6 with the Yanks main stock in trade—a home run. Del Ennis hit it off rookie Bob Grim to break a 6-6 tie in the fifth inning.

In the only other game between major league teams—most of them are breaking camp in the southland—the Washington Senators turned back the Cincinnati Redlegs when Roy Sievers hit a bases-loaded, two-out, ninth inning home run off Jack Crimian, 6-3.

The Yankees B team club beat St. Petersburg of the Florida International League, 10-4, and the Milwaukee Braves engaged in a brisk workout at the expense of Savannah of the Sally League, 27-0.

TV Battle Up to Stir The NCAA

Kansas City, March 31 (AP)—It's a long time until the football season but the NCAA had a full-sized gridiron squabble on its hands today—over that old bugaboo television.

The NCAA TV committee had no sooner come up with its recommendations for a nationally controlled TV football program next fall than the Big Ten conference balked.

The Big Ten TV committee said its idea of nine regional and three nationwide telecasts of football games was better.

The NCAA plan calls for a national game-of-the-week telecast on 12 successive Saturdays, with regional TV games restricted to Thanksgiving Day.

In addition televising of sellout games would be banned as would panoramic programs in which brief views of several games are wrapped up in a single telecast.

The Big Ten plan also would permit a team to appear twice regionally or once nationally while the NCAA proposal would limit a team to a single appearance whether on a regional or national basis.

The NCAA committee's recommendations will go into effect if approved by two thirds of NCAA members. A mail referendum already is in progress.

There were indications the Big Ten might split with the NCAA if the national program is approved but it also was reported the conference might go along in the final reckoning.

Roseland Rest, Lincoln Inn Tie for Lead

Roseland Rest and Lincoln Park Inn are locked in a tie for first place in the Tavern Shuffleboard League with 58 wins and 42 losses.

The tie was created Monday when Lincoln Park defeated Olive Bridge Grill, 8-2, while Roseland struggled for a 6-4 decision at Pheasant Inn.

With two weeks remaining, the championship probably will be decided on the final night. Both leaders are on the road next week—Lincoln Park Inn at Pheasant Inn and Roseland at Olive Bridge.

League Standing

| | Won | Lost |
|---|---|---|
| Roseland Rest | 58 | 42 |
| Lincoln Park Inn | 58 | 42 |
| Pheasant Inn | 51 | 49 |

Olson, Gavilan Fit and Ready For Big Clash

Chicago, March 31 (AP) — Both Bobo Olson and Kid Gavilan seem satisfied they are as ready as they'll ever be for their big fight — and both are sticking with the techniques that brought them each a championship.

Olson, the middleweight titleholder, ended ring drills for Friday's match with a five-round sparring session yesterday. Gavilan, the welter champ, will go a couple of final rounds today.

It's Olson's 160-pound title that is at stake in the nationally-televised (10 p.m. EST.) 15-rounder at Chicago Stadium.

Olson has reached a fine edge, say camp spokesmen—so fine that Manager Sid Flaherty wants him to take only the lightest of exercises from here on out, to avoid overtraining.

For just about the first time since he became a champion and found making the 147-pound welter limit less than a joy, the Kid has no weight problem — unless it's the seven or eight pounds he will spot Bobo.

The Cuban senor is a sleek 153 and feeling so trim that he delayed a four-round workout for an hour and a half yesterday in favor of a poker game.

Savoie Faces Persley In Tonight's TV Bout

St. Louis, March 31 (AP)—Armand Savoie of Montreal, knocked out in his last fight when he bid for the lightweight championship, goes against Arthur Persley tonight in a scheduled 10 round bout.

Persley, of Red Cross, La., and also knocked out just once, is rated a harder puncher and is ranked No. 8 one step higher in the lightweight standings than the Canadian.

Two judges and the referee each will divide 10 points a round between the fighters under Missouri rules in the televised bout (CBS, 10 p. m., EST).

It will be Savoie's first ring appearance since he fell before Jimmy Carter, then lightweight champion, last November.

Choken Maekawa, Michigan State boxer from Hawaii, is nicknamed "Pineapple."

Hack Leaves to Take Over Cubs

Stan Hack is all smiles as he boards a plane March 30 in Los Angeles for Shreveport, La., where he will take over as manager of the Chicago Cubs. Hack, who has been manager of the Los Angeles Angels of the Pacific Coast League was named March 29 to succeed Phil Cavarretta. (AP Wirephoto).

Cockell in Heavy Picture After Whipping La Starza

London, March 31 (AP)—Don Cockell, Britain's farmer-blacksmith-boxer—a real triple-threater—was the man of the hour here today. He skyrocketed to a contending role in the heavyweight picture by outpointing Roland La Starza in 10 rounds at Earls Court Arena last night.

Cockell, a 2-1 underdog, took over in the fifth and piled up points the rest of the way. Some British experts had the margin as wide as 8-2 in rounds for the winner. The AP scorecard hit it 5-4-1.

In fairness to La Starza, Rollie wasn't that bad. For four rounds, he looked as though he intended to do a workmanlike job on Cockell. But the Britisher caught wise in the fifth, became the aggressor, broke up La Starza's counter punching and piled up point after point.

"Rollie never really hurt me," said the chunky victor. "It was nice to win." A very close-mouthed lad.

Matthews Next

"If nothing else comes along, we'll probably fight Harry Matthews in Seattle again," Simpson said. Cockell outpointed Matthews in Seattle last summer.

Cockell was warned four times about low blows and La Starza and his manager, Jimmy De Angelo, both said the American would have been disqualified if it had been the other way around.

"To tell the truth," said La Starza ruefully, "I was expecting this. I was told before I came that I'd have to win by a knockout. I was slow starting and fought a bad fight. But I think I won."

Try for a knockdown Rollie did—and desperately in the tenth and final round. It was a real melee with La Starza striving desperately to connect. But he had neither the power nor the aim. When it ended, he was working so hard he didn't even hear the bell and refree Gene Henderson had to get him in a headlock and drag him to his corner.

King Louie Shirts Tie for ABC Lead With 2984 Series

Seattle, March 31 (AP)—The King Louie bowling shirts team of Chicago electrified the 1954 American Bowling Congress late last night with a 2984 open team total that finally tied the first place score set on opening day of the tournament.

The Windy City keglers put together games of 930, 998 and 1056 to amass a figure equal to that of the Wisconsin Bridge and Iron Works team of Milwaukee. The total surprised the experts—they had predicted there was little chance the Milwaukee team's mark would be equalled.

The Shirtmen's final game total was the highest team score bowled in open division play in the current tournament.

Paul Krumske, anchor man on the Chicago five, led the pin-smashing with a run of 207-190-246—643.

The only other major change in the open division saw the Helin Tackle team of Detroit take over 10th place with a 2870 score.

Another team which had been expected to finish among the winners fell short of predictions as the Ronson Lighters of Newark managed only a 2835 score, 35 short of what was needed to get a foot on the big 10 ladder.

Canadiens Set For Cup Finals

Already in their accustomed spot in the finals of the Stanley Cup playoffs, the Montreal Canadiens sat back today to await the outcome of the struggle between the Detroit Red Wings and the Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Canadiens blanked the Boston Bruins last night 2-0 to move one step closer to carrying off the coveted cup which they won last year. Their final '53 triumph was at the expense of the Bruins, four games to three.

The Canadiens' opponent probably will be Detroit. The Wings whipped the Leafs last night 2-1 to take a three games to one lead in their best-of-seven semi-final series.

Rookie Goalie Jacques Plante allowed Boston only four goals in the series, shutting them out twice. Plante, who was recalled from the Buffalo farm of the American Hockey League in February has proved his ability.

Dave Hawkins of Harvard, national AAU breaststroke champion, hails from Manly, Australia.

The average age of the Baltimore Orioles, newest team in the American League, is 27½ years.

That's a real basketball vendetta brewing between Haber's Grill (KHS stars) and Harry's Angels Monday night in the Kingston basketball tournament at the municipal auditorium.

This is a grudge battle of classic proportions. The clubs met three times in the YMCA Autumn League, with Habers winning two. They dropped the third game by one point and didn't exactly overwhelm Harry Kapreilian's boys in the two victories they scored.

The size of the court is believed to be a factor in favor of the younger and speedier Habers, but the Angels are inclined to minimize that advantage.

Habers clowned through their first tournament triumph over the weak Hudson Ericksons. The Angels will give them ample oppoortunities to dwell on the more serious side of life Monday.

In answer to inquiries about the Kingston Bowling Association annual election procedure, all independent nominations by leagues must be made on the official nominating ballot sent out by the KBA.

Ballots other than the official KBA form will probably be ruled invalid. There is a space allotted for independent nominations on the right side of the official form.

A nomination is tantamount to a unit vote by the league for the candidate, if the delegate is instructed. That is, if the KBA executive committee, doesn't permit the delegates to make a farce of the pre-convention commitments by the leagues.

If the nomination ballot is interpreted as a vote by the KBA, it is possible for some candidates to be elected before the official balloting starts at the annual convention in April.

There is a strong likelihood, however, that KBA's executive committee will treat the nominations as a separate item and ask the delegates to cast ballots for each office.

In either case, the instructed delegate should vote for the choice of his league, except on second ballots when he is released from the pledges and may use his own discretion.

Any other method would make a farce of the whole election procedure.

• Ken Joseph Rides High:

That master prophet of the bowling lanes—Ken Joseph—who is Johnny Ferraro's right bower at the Bowlodrome, has the boss just where he wants him—screaming and pleading for Ken's Rapp's Express squad to do something about the Poughkeepsie Cab menace Saturday night.

Following their dismal performance against the Cabbies last week, the Dairymen are at the mercy of the ninth place Expressmen. Rapps can "save" the crown for Joneses by taking two games from the league leaders, while the Dairymen are sweeping their last three games. The Bowlodrome will be jumping Saturday night and the biggest question in Kingston bowling at the moment is: "Can Rapp's do it. Can they save the Jones Dairy scalp?"

The Jones loss before the huge crowd in Poughkeepsie proved the old sports adage that it's tough to beat a team when it has its "big man" going. The Cabs did—(Phil Versace 694)—and Joneses didn't. Johnny Ferraro's troubles in the first two sets amazed the tenpin fans. When he did right himself in the third game, it was too late. Versace was reeling off nine straight strikes.

Jones Dairy's soft rollers were ineffectual on the Bridge City planks. Only Larry Weishaupt and Dick Howard looked like themselves. Three of the Cabbies—George Baird, Fran Hauver and Jake Charter—throw a hard ball. Dick Rhea, a southpaw, as such is in a league by himself on the seldom used left side of the lane. Versace is not overpowering but has uncanny control and knows every nail on the planks. The soft Jones deliveries just didn't register.

Getting back to Ken Joseph, this is a prediction: If Rapp's can accomplish the Little Miracle by taking two from the Cabs Saturday night, he'll never let the Joneses (and Mr. Ferraro in particular) forget it. Not if they live to be a hundred.

Lakers Favored To Repeat in Pro Playoffs

Minneapolis, March 31 (AP)—The Minneapolis Lakers, proud royalty of pro basketball, open defense of their NBA championship tonight against Syracuse, once regarded as a team of ragamuffins.

The odds tabbed the habitual champion Lakers as firm favorites to win their sixth title in seven years in the best-of-seven final playoff.

Syracuse enters the series with 12 victories in its last 13 games. But it doesn't have the Mikan-Pollard-Mikkelsen triumvirate that has dominated the league since the late '40s.

Syracuse coach Al Cervi, however, maintained stoutly the Nationals could keep up the furious tempo which won them the Eastern title in six straight games.

Syracuse, becalmed for much of the early season, tried endless combinations before hitting stride in midseason. Down the stretch, performances of Dolph Schayes, Paul Seymour and Wally Osterkorn snuffed out New York and Boston, teams with superior manpower on paper.

Bill Sheehan-Dr. Goldfarb YMCA Paddle Ball Champs

Bill Sheehan and Dr. Saul Goldfarb have been crowned paddle ball champions of the Business and Professional men's division of the YMCA.

They clinched the title last night by defeating Steve Nekos and Don Riehl, 21-14 and 21-10, to culminate a seven-week tournament involving 32 players.

It was a unique victory for Sheehan, who was forced to change partners three times along the way. Dr. Goldfarb, his original choice, could not play on the first three scheduled dates. Under tournament rules, Sheehan could use another partner with adjusted handicaps.

Sheehan teamed with John Larkin to defeat Gene Persico and Sol Heller, 21-4, 21-11, in a first round match. He took Persico on as partner and they whipped Jack Ostrander and Al Townsend, 21-10, 21-7.

In the semi-final round, Sheehan again teamed with Larkin for a win over Bing Van Etten and Jake Francis, 1-21, 21-17, 21-10.

Louis Wehle Conservation Contest Set

A new conservation contest has been announced, Louis A. Wehle, the Rochester sportsman who continues to sponsor the popular New York state Wehle fishing contest.

The new contest, designed to encourage fish and game clubs for outstanding work in conservation, is described in detail in Wehle's 1954 fishing guide which is now available without charge at sporting goods stores, bait shops and boat liveries.

A first prize of $1000 will be awarded the club which, in the opinion of judges, has contributed most toward conservation in New York state during 1954. Second prize is $750; third prize, $250. The contest is open to all fish and game clubs in New York state.

Sections Listed

Judges will base their decisions upon the contributions each club has made in the following conservation efforts:

Game restocking, fish restocking, reforestation, vermin control, stream pollution control, sportsman-farmer relations programs, youth education, adult education, game protection, fish propagation, stream improvement, pond cinsyruction and management, conservation in general.

The new conservation contest will be conducted as part of the $5,135 Wehle fishing contest which will begin its ninth year with the opening of the rainbow trout season in some parts of the state on April 1. The regular trout season opening is scheduled April 10.

Judges for the contest are: Robert D. Thompson, president New York State Conservation Council, Inc., Waverly; Edward J. Sherman, managing editor Glens Falls Times; and P. M. Fosburgh, editor, New York State Conservationist.

Ridge Varsity Routs Old Timers Five, 48 to 28

The old adage that youth will be served held firm in the basketball game between the Varsity and Old Timers of Stone Ridge at the Marbletown school gym.

The kids won it, 48-28, without drawing a deep breath. They were slightly pressed to lead 6-2 at the quarter and were ahead 18-10 at halftime.

The oldies rallied for a last desperate try in the third period and held a 14-6 edge. The strain and exertion left them completely winded and they collapsed in a heap to trail by 24-4 in the stretch run.

Vic Stella led the winners with 20 points and Bob Scott hit 12. Ayasse rimmed 14 for the old timers.

King Louie Shirts Tie for ABC Lead With 2984 Series

Seattle, March 31 (AP)—The King Louie bowling shirts team of Chicago electrified the 1954 American Bowling Congress late last night with a 2984 open team total that finally tied the first place score set on opening day of the tournament.

The Windy City keglers put together games of 930, 998 and 1056 to amass a figure equal to that of the Wisconsin Bridge and Iron Works team of Milwaukee. The total surprised the experts—they had predicted there was little chance the Milwaukee team's mark would be equalled.

The Shirtmen's final game total was the highest team score bowled in open division play in the current tournament.

Paul Krumske, anchor man on the Chicago five, led the pin-smashing with a run of 207-190-246—643.

The only other major change in the open division saw the Helin Tackle team of Detroit take over 10th place with a 2870 score.

Another team which had been expected to finish among the winners fell short of predictions as the Ronson Lighters of Newark managed only a 2835 score, 35 short of what was needed to get a foot on the big 10 ladder.

London, March 31 (AP)—Don Cockell, Britain's farmer-blacksmith-boxer—a real triple-threater—was the man of the hour here today. He skyrocketed to a contending role in the heavyweight picture by outpointing Roland La Starza in 10 rounds at Earls Court Arena last night.

Cockell, a 2-1 underdog, took over in the fifth and piled up points the rest of the way. Some British experts had the margin as wide as 8-2 in rounds for the winner. The AP scorecard hit it 5-4-1.

In fairness to La Starza, Rollie wasn't that bad. For four rounds, he looked as though he intended to do a workmanlike job on Cockell. But the Britisher caught wise in the fifth, became the aggressor, broke up La Starza's counter punching and piled up point after point.

"Rollie never really hurt me," said the chunky victor. "It was nice to win." A very close-mouthed lad.

Matthews Next

"If nothing else comes along, we'll probably fight Harry Matthews in Seattle again," Simpson said. Cockell outpointed Matthews in Seattle last summer.

Cockell was warned four times about low blows and La Starza and his manager, Jimmy De Angelo, both said the American would have been disqualified if it had been the other way around.

"To tell the truth," said La Starza ruefully, "I was expecting this. I was told before I came that I'd have to win by a knockout. I was slow starting and fought a bad fight. But I think I won."

Try for a knockdown Rollie did—and desperately in the tenth and final round. It was a real melee with La Starza striving desperately to connect. But he had neither the power nor the aim. When it ended, he was working so hard he didn't even hear the bell and refree Gene Henderson had to get him in a headlock and drag him to his corner.

Canadiens Set For Cup Finals

Already in their accustomed spot in the finals of the Stanley Cup playoffs, the Montreal Canadiens sat back today to await the outcome of the struggle between the Detroit Red Wings and the Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Canadiens blanked the Boston Bruins last night 2-0 to move one step closer to carrying off the coveted cup which they won last year. Their final '53 triumph was at the expense of the Bruins, four games to three.

The Canadiens' opponent probably will be Detroit. The Wings whipped the Leafs last night 2-1 to take a three games to one lead in their best-of-seven semi-final series.

Rookie Goalie Jacques Plante allowed Boston only four goals in the series, shutting them out twice. Plante, who was recalled from the Buffalo farm of the American Hockey League in February has proved his ability.

The 25-year-old goaltender replaced goalie Gerry McNeil who suffered an ankle injury during the late stages of the pennant race has allowed only 31 goals in 21 games while blanking the opposition seven times.

Dave Hawkins of Harvard, national AAU breaststroke champion, hails from Manly, Australia.

The average age of the Baltimore Orioles, newest team in the American League, is 27½ years.

By Charles J. Tiano

That's a real basketball vendetta brewing between Haber's Grill (KHS stars) and Harry's Angels Monday night in the Kingston basketball tournament at the municipal auditorium.

This is a grudge battle of classic proportions. The clubs met three times in the YMCA Autumn League, with Habers winning two. They dropped the third game by one point and didn't exactly overwhelm Harry Kapreilian's boys in the two victories they scored.

The size of the court is believed to be a factor in favor of the younger and speedier Habers, but the Angels are inclined to minimize that advantage.

Habers clowned through their first tournament triumph over the weak Hudson Ericksons. The Angels will give them ample oppoortunities to dwell on the more serious side of life Monday.

In answer to inquiries about the Kingston Bowling Association annual election procedure, all independent nominations by leagues must be made on the official nominating ballot sent out by the KBA.

Ballots other than the official KBA form will probably be ruled invalid. There is a space allotted for independent nominations on the right side of the official form.

A nomination is tantamount to a unit vote by the league for the candidate, if the delegate is instructed. That is, if the KBA executive committee, doesn't permit the delegates to make a farce of the pre-convention commitments by the leagues.

If the nomination ballot is interpreted as a vote by the KBA, it is possible for some candidates to be elected before the official balloting starts at the annual convention in April.

There is a strong likelihood, however, that KBA's executive committee will treat the nominations as a separate item and ask the delegates to cast ballots for each office.

In either case, the instructed delegate should vote for the choice of his league, except on second ballots when he is released from the pledges and may use his own discretion.

Any other method would make a farce of the whole election procedure.

• Ken Joseph Rides High:

That master prophet of the bowling lanes—Ken Joseph—who is Johnny Ferraro's right bower at the Bowlodrome, has the boss just where he wants him—screaming and pleading for Ken's Rapp's Express squad to do something about the Poughkeepsie Cab menace Saturday night.

Following their dismal performance against the Cabbies last week, the Dairymen are at the mercy of the ninth place Expressmen. Rapps can "save" the crown for Joneses by taking two games from the league leaders, while the Dairymen are sweeping their last three games. The Bowlodrome will be jumping Saturday night and the biggest question in Kingston bowling at the moment is: "Can Rapp's do it. Can they save the Jones Dairy scalp?"

The Jones loss before the huge crowd in Poughkeepsie proved the old sports adage that it's tough to beat a team when it has its "big man" going. The Cabs did—(Phil Versace 694)—and Joneses didn't. Johnny Ferraro's troubles in the first two sets amazed the tenpin fans. When he did right himself in the third game, it was too late. Versace was reeling off nine straight strikes.

Jones Dairy's soft rollers were ineffectual on the Bridge City planks. Only Larry Weishaupt and Dick Howard looked like themselves. Three of the Cabbies—George Baird, Fran Hauver and Jake Charter—throw a hard ball. Dick Rhea, a southpaw, as such is in a league by himself on the seldom used left side of the lane. Versace is not overpowering but has uncanny control and knows every nail on the planks. The soft Jones deliveries just didn't register.

Getting back to Ken Joseph, this is a prediction: If Rapp's can accomplish the Little Miracle by taking two from the Cabs Saturday night, he'll never let the Joneses (and Mr. Ferraro in particular) forget it. Not if they live to be a hundred.

Lakers Favored To Repeat in Pro Playoffs

Minneapolis, March 31 (AP)—The Minneapolis Lakers, proud royalty of pro basketball, open defense of their NBA championship tonight against Syracuse, once regarded as a team of ragamuffins.

The odds tabbed the habitual champion Lakers as firm favorites to win their sixth title in seven years in the best-of-seven final playoff.

Syracuse enters the series with 12 victories in its last 13 games. But it doesn't have the Mikan-Pollard-Mikkelsen triumvirate that has dominated the league since the late '40s.

Syracuse coach Al Cervi, however, maintained stoutly the Nationals could keep up the furious tempo which won them the Eastern title in six straight games.

Syracuse, becalmed for much of the early season, tried endless combinations before hitting stride in midseason. Down the stretch, performances of Dolph Schayes, Paul Seymour and Wally Osterkorn snuffed out New York and Boston, teams with superior manpower on paper.

Bill Sheehan-Dr. Goldfarb YMCA Paddle Ball Champs

Bill Sheehan and Dr. Saul Goldfarb have been crowned paddle ball champions of the Business and Professional men's division of the YMCA.

They clinched the title last night by defeating Steve Nekos and Don Riehl, 21-14 and 21-10, to culminate a seven-week tournament involving 32 players.

It was a unique victory for Sheehan, who was forced to change partners three times along the way. Dr. Goldfarb, his original choice, could not play on the first three scheduled dates. Under tournament rules, Sheehan could use another partner with adjusted handicaps.

Sheehan teamed with John Larkin to defeat Gene Persico and Sol Heller, 21-4, 21-11, in a first round match. He took Persico on as partner and they whipped Jack Ostrander and Al Townsend, 21-10, 21-7.

In the semi-final round, Sheehan again teamed with Larkin for a win over Bing Van Etten and Jake Francis, 1-21, 21-17, 21-10.

Louis Wehle Conservation Contest Set

A new conservation contest has been announced, Louis A. Wehle, the Rochester sportsman who continues to sponsor the popular New York state Wehle fishing contest.

The new contest, designed to encourage fish and game clubs for outstanding work in conservation, is described in detail in Wehle's 1954 fishing guide which is now available without charge at sporting goods stores, bait shops and boat liveries.

A first prize of $1000 will be awarded the club which, in the opinion of judges, has contributed most toward conservation in New York state during 1954. Second prize is $750; third prize, $250. The contest is open to all fish and game clubs in New York state.

Sections Listed

Judges will base their decisions upon the contributions each club has made in the following conservation efforts:

Game restocking, fish restocking, reforestation, vermin control, stream pollution control, sportsman-farmer relations programs, youth education, adult education, game protection, fish propagation, stream improvement, pond cinsyruction and management, conservation in general.

The new conservation contest will be conducted as part of the $5,135 Wehle fishing contest which will begin its ninth year with the opening of the rainbow trout season in some parts of the state on April 1. The regular trout season opening is scheduled April 10.

Ridge Varsity Routs Old Timers Five, 48 to 28

The old adage that youth will be served held firm in the basketball game between the Varsity and Old Timers of Stone Ridge at the Marbletown school gym.

The kids won it, 48-28, without drawing a deep breath. They were slightly pressed to lead 6-2 at the quarter and were ahead 18-10 at halftime.

The oldies rallied for a last desperate try in the third period and held a 14-6 edge. The strain and exertion left them completely winded and they collapsed in a heap to trail by 24-4 in the stretch run.

Vic Stella led the winners with 20 points and Bob Scott hit 12. Ayasse rimmed 14 for the old timers.

75-Foot Fall Fatal

New York, March 31 (AP)—A 17-year-old boy was fatally injured in a 75-foot fall yesterday as he and two teen-age companions tried to sneak into the Globe Theatre at Times Square to see the movies. The boys entered another building and crossed rooftops to the theatre fire escape. When Walter Rodziszewski tried to jump from the fire escape to a catwalk, he missed and fell into an alley behind the stage. He died two hours later in a hospital. No one in the audience heard the crash, theatre officials said. Police said the three boys had made a habit of sneaking into the Globe, but found their usual ways of entrance blocked yesterday. Riders of the Stars was the film being shown.

OUR "NORTHERN" HOMES ARE SO SUPERIOR!
and WHY?

1. Everyone says "What BEAUTIFUL LUMBER — so DRY and STRAIGHT!"
2. FAR GREATER STRENGTH! Our panels, being in frames, resist stress and strain from all 4 directions. Hence, almost no warpage. Also, because our panels come together at least every 4 ft., double timbers occur every 4 ft.
3. MUCH MORE LUMBER! You will find much more lumber in one of our houses than in any similar size house built by conventional methods.
4. Incidentally — and of interest — our houses are all union-made.
5. IT PAYS TO BUY A "NORTHERN" HOME! Plain ordinary every day figuring will prove this statement — and you'll have a wonderfully fine home, too.

WE WILL QUOTE YOU ON ANY HOUSE PLAN — YOURS OR OURS.

75-Foot Fall Fatal

New York, March 31 (AP)—A 17-year-old boy was fatally injured in a 75-foot fall yesterday as he and two teen-age companions tried to sneak into the Globe Theatre at Times Square to see the movies. The boys entered another building and crossed rooftops to the theatre fire escape. When Walter Rodziszewski tried to jump from the fire escape to a catwalk, he missed and fell into an alley behind the stage. He died two hours later in a hospital. No one in the audience heard the crash, theatre officials said. Police said the three boys had made a habit of sneaking into the Globe, but found their usual ways of entrance blocked yesterday. Riders of the Stars was the film being shown.

OUR "NORTHERN" HOMES ARE SO SUPERIOR!
and WHY?

1. Everyone says "What BEAUTIFUL LUMBER — so DRY and STRAIGHT!"
2. FAR GREATER STRENGTH! Our panels, being in frames, resist stress and strain from all 4 directions. Hence, almost no warpage. Also, because our panels come together at least every 4 ft., double timbers occur every 4 ft.
3. MUCH MORE LUMBER! You will find much more lumber in one of our houses than in any similar size house built by conventional methods.
4. Incidentally — and of interest — our houses are all union-made.
5. IT PAYS TO BUY A "NORTHERN" HOME! Plain ordinary every day figuring will prove this statement — and you'll have a wonderfully fine home, too.

WE WILL QUOTE YOU ON ANY HOUSE PLAN — YOURS OR OURS.

Moderate north to northeast winds this afternoon, becoming moderate north to northwest by Thursday morning.

CONTINUED COLD

Eastern New York: Fair in north and some cloudiness in south portion tonight and Thursday. Continued rather cold. Low tonight 10 to 20.

City engineer's weather report: Temperature at 10 a. m., today 35, barometric pressure 29.72, humidity 50 and wind NE at 9 MPH. High temperature yesterday 40 at 3 p. m., and low 26 at 8 a. m. ## Still Clearing Snow

Buffalo, March 31 (AP)—The cleanup continued today after a storm that dumped up to 20 inches of snow over a wide area of upstate New York and claimed at least 18 lives. The weather was clear and comparatively mild. Twelve deaths were reported in the Buffalo area and six in the Rochester area. All but three were attributed to over-exertion while shoveling snow or pushing stalled autos. Two died in traffic accidents and a child died while playing in the snow.

Pin Pickup

Rhinestone pins and buckles sparkle like new after a 15 minute soaking in gasoline and a rubbing with a flannel cloth.

Ex-Slave Laborers Ask $94,900 Damages

Frankfurt, Germany, March 31 (AP)—Two former slave laborers of the German I.G. Farben Trust in World War 2 have filed claims asking a total of $94,900 in damages.

The men, both naturalized Americans of Polish birth, performed forced labor for the former chemical trust. The Farben company was decarteilized after the war.

Morris Rothman of Vallejo, Calif., seeks damages of $59,200, his attorney said. Rothman worked in Farben's buna (synthetic rubber) plant near Oswiecim (Auschwitz) a Nazi concentration camp in Poland, from October, 1952, to January, 1945.

Sgt. Bruno W. Ritter of Baltimore, Md., filed a claim for $35,700 the attorney said. Ritter worked in the same plant from 1943 to 1944.

Disagrees With Firm

Albany, March 31 (AP)—A consulting engineer has attacked the New York Telephone Company's assertion that the replacement value of its properties—at current price levels—should be considered in rate regulation. George E. Goldthwaite of New York city, consultant for the Public Service Commission, said yesterday that if rate regulations were based on the purchasing power of the dollar "widespread and harmful speculation in public utility securities" would result. Goldthwaite testified at a PSC hearing, which was to resume today, on the telephone company's bid for a $68,850,000-a-year rate increase. The firm proposes raising rates on most home phones by 75 cents a month and on most business phones by $2.

Still Clearing Snow

Buffalo, March 31 (AP)—The cleanup continued today after a storm that dumped up to 20 inches of snow over a wide area of upstate New York and claimed at least 18 lives. The weather was clear and comparatively mild. Twelve deaths were reported in the Buffalo area and six in the Rochester area. All but three were attributed to over-exertion while shoveling snow or pushing stalled autos. Two died in traffic accidents and a child died while playing in the snow.

Pin Pickup

Ex-Slave Laborers Ask $94,900 Damages

Frankfurt, Germany, March 31 (AP)—Two former slave laborers of the German I.G. Farben Trust in World War 2 have filed claims asking a total of $94,900 in damages.

The men, both naturalized Americans of Polish birth, performed forced labor for the former chemical trust. The Farben company was decarteilized after the war.

Morris Rothman of Vallejo, Calif., seeks damages of $59,200, his attorney said. Rothman worked in Farben's buna (synthetic rubber) plant near Oswiecim (Auschwitz) a Nazi concentration camp in Poland, from October, 1952, to January, 1945.

Sgt. Bruno W. Ritter of Baltimore, Md., filed a claim for $35,700 the attorney said. Ritter worked in the same plant from 1943 to 1944.

Disagrees With Firm

Albany, March 31 (AP)—A consulting engineer has attacked the New York Telephone Company's assertion that the replacement value of its properties—at current price levels—should be considered in rate regulation. George E. Goldthwaite of New York city, consultant for the Public Service Commission, said yesterday that if rate regulations were based on the purchasing power of the dollar "widespread and harmful speculation in public utility securities" would result. Goldthwaite testified at a PSC hearing, which was to resume today, on the telephone company's bid for a $68,850,000-a-year rate increase. The firm proposes raising rates on most home phones by 75 cents a month and on most business phones by $2.
